Cool Breezes Bring City Relief From Sizzling Heat

Torrid Wave Broken

Mansfield's heat wave appeared to be broken, at least temporarily, today as the mercury dropped to 76 degrees at noon after soaring to a sizzling 90 at 3:30 p. m. yesterday.

And the weatherman said the cooler weather will stay at least through Friday. Light showers and brisk breezes added to the welcome comfort today.

Although it didn't feel like it, Mansfield's 90-degree high was one of the "lowest" readings in the state yesterday. While sweltering Mansfielders took to the swimming pools and shady spots in back yards, Columbus residents roasted in 96 degrees —highest recorded in the state.

East Liverpool was the "coolest" spot with 84 degrees and the only city in Ohio recording a less-than-90-degree reading. Cincinnati's high was 92; Cleveland's 94. Akron, Dayton, Perry, Youngstown and Zanesville reported 92. Toledo's high was 94.

One of the largest crowds ever reported at Liberty park swimming pool thronged the pool yesterday afternoon with 700 persons scrambling for a chance at a refreshing plunge.

CITY GOES OUTDOORS

Loosened neckties and rolled-up sleeves were a common sight in downtown offices. Porch swings and lawn gliders were the favorite pieces of furniture last night as city residents sought relief from the heat. Lowest reading last night was 74.

Forecasters said the high range over the state tomorrow will be between 80 and 86 degrees, approximately 10 degrees below the range of the past two days. Cooler air moved in from the west, replacing the humid heat which swept up from the Gulf of Mexico.

Casualties of the heat mounted to five in Ohio yesterday. The victims died in swimming accidents or as the result of heat prostrations.

DEWEY DEMONSTRATORS MARCH — Permanent Chairman Joseph W. Martin, jr., speaker of the House, pounds his gavel in vain during the mighty, tumultuous demonstration at the Republican national convention in Philadelphia touched off by the nomination of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York for the presidency. Dewey backers marched again and again past the speaker's platform with signs bearing huge pictures of Dewey.—(International)

Russians Seek Rule In Berlin

Gen. Clay Defies Ouster Attempts

BERLIN—(U.P.)—Nothing "short of war" will drive American forces from Berlin, Gen. Lucius D. Clay said today in defying Russia's most determined effort to force the western allies from the German capital.

U. S. tanks and jeeps patroled the western sector of Berlin on the lookout for any trouble that might be touched off by Russia's latest attempt to force the Americans, British and French out of the city.

American military patrols were reinforced and put on an alert after the Russians cracked down by cutting off vital supply lines for 2,500,000 persons in the Berlin occupation zones of the three western powers.

TRAFFIC HALTS

Railroad traffic between Berlin and the west was stopped. Electricity from power plants in the Soviet zone was shut off in the western sectors. In some places the water was turned off. Incoming automobile traffic from the west was prohibited.

U. S. authorities received reports that barrage balloons had been sighted near the international air corridor across the Soviet zone. They said the balloons presumably were aimed to hamper air traffic—the only link between Berlin and the west—or to serve Russian observers watching allied planes carrying supplies here from Frankfurt.

(In London, a British foreign office spokesman said a careful check showed that reports the Russians had raised barrage balloons between Berlin and the border of the Russian zone were erroneous.)

The U. S. Army garrison here invoked precautionary measures in the crisis that stemmed direct from the east-west clash over currency reform but actually was a long range development in the cold war.

The Soviet-controlled press in Berlin demanded flatly today that the western powers leave the former German capital.

Death Case Investigated

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — A coroner's verdict was awaited today in the death of Frank V. Martin, 48, former Franklin county sheriff's deputy, who was shot to death yesterday with his own gun.

An attractive 29-year-old brunette divorcee, Mrs. Henrietta Virginia Pearson, mother of two young children, was held without charge for further questioning today.

Witnesses at an all-night inquest said the shooting took place on the front porch of Mrs. Pearson's home, where Martin was a frequent visitor.

Mrs. Pearson told sheriff's investigators that Martin came to her house and said, "Doll, I'm going to kill you," and added, "if you want to, you can shoot me first."

She said she asked him for the gun and he gave it to her. Then she attempted to run out the front door, but he grabbed her.

"While we were scuffling," she said, "I kicked him on the shin to make him let go of the gun, and as I did the gun went off."

After the shot was fired, she said, Martin told her, "I've shot myself. Call Sheriff Paul (of Franklin county) and tell him I was going to kill you."

Salary Talks Now Assured

Shultz Seeks Data From Other Cities

Chairman of city council's finance committee, Charles N. Shultz, has decided, after all, to meet with the salary committee of police, fire and service department personnel to discuss requests for wage increases.

At the Tuesday night council meeting, Shultz told Fire Chief L. J. Steele, who had pleaded for consideration of proposed wage increases, that he was "disgusted with the chief's plea" for wage increases and would not meet with the salary committee as requested.

"Perhaps my remarks were misinterpreted," Shultz said today. "We'll meet with the salary committee, but not very soon. It'll be a week or more before we get together because we are in the process of getting comparative figures from other cities."

The police and fire department have asked for increases ranging from 29 to 50 per cent. At present, the policemen's and firemen's salaries are being augmented by a $25 cast-of-living bonus.

The bonus was granted by city council last year, pending a job and wage re-evaluation study by several department heads. That study, now completed, has been in the hands of the salary committee for more than a month, but they have not met with the finance committee.

Accord Near In Coal Fuss

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Signs today indicated John L. Lewis and almost all of the soft coal operators may sign a new contract by tonight providing $1 per day wage increases and a doubled pension fund for miners.

Lewis talked for two and one-half hours at his office with all owner representatives except Harry M. Moses, negotiator for steel company mines. The conferences then were recessed until 7 p. m. (EST) tonight.

One operator told reporters "very good progress" was made toward a new agreement.

Meanwhile, Lewis prepared to go over the reported contract terms with the 200-man United Mine Workers policy committee at an afternoon session.

Lewis and the operators were scheduled to tell President Truman's fact-finding board at 4 p. m. (EST) just what can be expected tonight or at subsequent negotiations. The board, with White House consent, gave the parties an additional 24 hours yesterday to say whether they are reaching an agreement. The board did this, saying "considerable progress" was made.

Strikers Storm Hall

DAYTON —(INS)— Sixty striking Univis Lens company workers stormed into a Dayton city commission meeting today charging that police had been ordered to "shoot to kill" in breaking up a picket line disturbance last week. Police and Mayor Louis W. Lohrey denied the charge.

Divorce Decree Crosses Ocean

CINCINNATI—(INS)—A divorce decree was on its way to Mary C. Matthews, 23, a factory worker in Greenfield, England, today.

Earl F. Matthews, 28, a Cincinnati salesman, ignored her after their June 16, 1945 marriage in England and that he told her sister "marriage is too expensive." She admitted leaving Matthews July 10, 1947 "at his request."

RULES AGAINST HALLS

WASHINGTON —(INS)— A national labor relations board trial examiner ruled today that the hiring hall as operated by the CIO National Maritime union on the Great Lakes violates the Taft-Hartley law.

Non-Profit Bingo Law Valid

Ohio Court Upholds Lotteries For Charity

COLUMBUS — (INS) — The constitutionality of Ohio's famed "bingo law" was upheld today by the state supreme court.

The law, in effect, authorizes the conduct of bingo games, lotteries and raffles if they are exclusively for charitable purposes—"not for his own profit" is the phrase used in the statute.

The court upheld the dismissal of an indictment against Murray S. Parker, indicted in Akron for operating a keno game. Murray demurred to the indictment on the ground that the indictment failed to allege that he operated the game "for his own profit."

The prosecution contended that the constitution prohibits all lotteries, and that the statute was in direct conflict with the constitution.

Therefore, the prosecutor contended, the indictment was properly drawn under the law as it existed prior to 1943.

However, the demurrer was sustained and the appeals court upheld the dismissal of the charges. In affirming, the supreme court ruled that the indictment, by failing to allege "for his own profit," did not charge an indictable offense.

The court went further and directly upheld the constitutionality of the disputed statute. The provision neither authorizes nor gives validity to any gambling transaction, the court held, but "so far as it goes in prohibiting lotteries conducted for the operators own profit, it is in harmony with rather than in conflict with the constitution."

Draft Takes Single Men

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The first draft call will take in only single men without dependents in non-essential jobs, administration officials said today.

These officials indicated that President Truman will exercise his authority under the new draft act to defer men in the 19-through-25 age group who are supporting a wife, children or other relatives.

They said the President also will grant deferments to "necessary" workers in agriculture, industry and government.

The selective service bill, which is now awaiting Mr. Truman's signature, does not provide any blanket deferments for these groups. It does, however, exempt most veterans, ministers and divinity students, and the sole surviving son of a "Gold Star" family.

These administration officials emphasized that in the event of an emergency, fathers and others deferred by special provisions might be liable for induction.

Doesn't Want To Be Secretary

Bromfield's Major Attraction In Philly

By HARRY HORVITZ

Louis Bromfield, Lucas, who is in Philadelphia covering the Republican convention for the International News Service and the Mansfield News-Journal, is as much of an attraction as any of the amazing phenomena of this biggest convention and sideshow in political history.

Even Eva the Taft-supporting 500-pound baby elephant would have to take a back seat—if she could fit into one—for the well known novelist. Bromfield today made the rounds of the major campaign headquarters. With him was Inez Robb, another News-Journal columnist, and Woodrow Wyatt, his new secretary.

At the Dewey headquarters they stopped to see a fashion show with beautiful models and a Philadelphia society matron announcing the fun.

Upstairs, at the Stassen headquarters, they drank free iced tea and enjoyed the dancing of some real hula dancers from Hawaii.

They chatted with Alice Longworth, daughter of Theodore Roosevelt. Mrs. Longworth is noted for her sharp wit and Governor Dewey has been the subject of her jibes. In 1944 she remarked "Dewey is the groom on top of a wedding cake." This year she has been repeating: "A souflee never rises twice."

After receiving the compliments of many readers of "Malabar Farm," Bromfield proceeded to the Taft headquarters. Here he met Eva, the slightly frightened and noisy elephant which is the pet of the Taft headquarters. Recognized by everyone, Bromfield was the eternal center of a crowd.

The Richland county novelist repeatedly had to explain that he did not want to be the secretary of agriculture. As a substitute he suggested Clifford Root of Kansas.

ONG Limits Enlistments

Maximum Set At 12,000

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— The Army department has put a 14,100-man ceiling on enlistments in the Ohio National Guard, Assistant Adjt. Gen. Kenneth Cooper announced today.

Cooper said the new ceiling, presumably slapped on because of the rush to "beat the draft" by enlisting in the National Guard, fixed 12,000 as the limit for enlistments in the ground forces of the Guard and 2100 for the Air Forces of the Guard.

Ohio National Guard strength, Army and air, stood at 10,460 as of June 15, General Cooper said. A new telegraphic survey is now in progress, he added, to see where the Guard stands in view of the ceiling order.

The old quota for a five-year period called for an increase in Guard strength to a total of 27,500 men, both Army and air.

Adjt. Gen. Chester W. Goble, meanwhile, emphasized that enlistments in the Guard had not been stopped pending the results of the strength survey, expected to be completed within 48 hours.

Col. John McMahon, commanding officer of the Ohio military district, announced that enrollments in the organized reserves of the Army have not been suspended in the state as announced in Cincinnati. He indicated, however, that enrollments were nearing present requirements.

Firemen Seek 56-Hour Week

CINCINNATI — (INS) — Ohio's firefighters sought a 56-hour week today.

The annual convention of the Ohio Firefighters association asked two changes in the present Ohio law. The first asked that the work week be reduced from a maximum of 72 hours to 56 hours. The second resolution advocated an extra day of each eight days and that there be no more than 144 hours work in 16 days.

The present law provides for 24 hours on and 24 hours off, with an extra day off every 14 days.

Pioneer Woman Doctor Dies at 85

BUCYRUS—Dr. Lucia Kemp Feighner, one of Ohio's pioneer women doctors, died today in a rest home. She was 85.

Dr. Feighner, daughter of a Civil war surgeon, Dr. George W. Kemp, started her practice in Cincinnati in 1891. She came here in 1901 and practiced until her retirement more than ten years ago.

Rivals Nearing Agreement On A Single Foe

BULLETIN

CONVENTION HALL, Philadelphia — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey led on the first Republican presidential vote today, but unofficial tabulations showed him short of the 548 needed to nominate. There was a chance some states might change their vote before the second roll call. The unofficial count: Dewey 434; Taft 222; Stassen 157; Vandenberg 62; Warren 59; J. Martin 18; Green 56; Baldwin 19; MacArthur 11; Driscoll 35; Reece 15, and Dirksen 1.

★ ★ ★

PHILADELPHIA—A battling band of "Stop-Deweyites" entered the first balloting session of the Republican national convention today nearly agreed on a single candidate to oppose the New York governor.

As the convention convened at 1:14 p. m. (Mansfield time), Rep. Clarence Brown of Ohio, manager of the forces backing Sen. Robert A. Taft, said he thought an agreement was near on a single candidate to try to stop the tide for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Sen. John W. Bricker of Ohio, who last night nominated Taft to head the party's presidential ticket, told International News Service that Ohio's delegation will stick with Taft "as long as we can."

This was not nearly as confident an estimate of their strength as Bricker and other Taft people previously had given.

The flag-bedecked convention hall was steaming with heat and rumors of eleventh hour "deals" long before the 1,094 delegates arrived for the start of the balloting session.

One of the pre-session reports was that Michigan would withdraw its support of Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg after the first ballot.

Gov. Kim Sigler, who placed Vandenberg's name in nomination in the wee morning hours of the preceding session, called the report "tommy-rot" and said Michigan was "going to stick with Vandenberg."

Delegates were bleary-eyed from the seven-hour session ended at 3:02 a. m. (Mansfield time) at which the field of seven candidates, led by Dewey and Taft of Ohio, had formally been placed in nomination.

DEWEYITES CONFIDENT

In the hours that followed the seven-hour nominating session, Massachusetts' Sen. Leverett Saltonstall eliminated himself as a "favorite son" in favor of Dewey. West Virginia also gave the New Yorker a boost.

These developments caused many convention observers to forecast a bandwagon roll to victory for Dewey. Aids of the New Yorker started working on an acceptance speech — so confident were they of triumphing.

A key mid-western leader, who has fought Dewey's nomination, told reporters "it's all over," but asked not to be quoted by name.

Before the Massachusetts development, Harold E. Stassen professed belief Dewey actually was losing ground. He said he understood three Kentucky delegates, two from Washington and one from Utah had left the Dewey camp.

Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio conferred with members of the Utah and Kentucky delegations, and told reporters he also had been carrying on a lot of "telephone conferences."

Asked whether he was making any progress, Taft smiled.

"Yes, I think so," he said.

Dewey's camp suffered a disappointment when the Kansas delegation caucused and voted to cast 12 of its 19 votes for Dewey on the first ballot with the seven others scattered among Taft, Vandenberg. Stassen and Speaker Martin. Dewey men had claimed 14 to 16 Kansas votes.

Patrolman Hurt Chasing 'Burglar'

Police Patrolman Leland Sorgen was nursing a severely-cut right knee cap today after he attempted to follow a "burglar" through a broken window.

The man, police found later, was Jake Rusiska, a resident of the house, who became irked when he found himself locked out.

Police said neighbors summoned them when they saw a man break a window and enter at 76 East Fourth street about midnight. Sorgen was detailed to the spot where he attempted to go through the window after the suspect.

Rusiska calmly walking around in his room, wanted to know what the fuss was all about.

Sorgen was treated at General hospital and released.

Seven Invited To Tourney

Seven Mansfield softball teams have been invited to participate in the First Annual Invitational tournament of the Mount Vernon Youth council, scheduled for play in July. The tournament will be played July 7-23 under the lights of Riverside park, Mt. Vernon.

Teams from here invited were Gorman-Rupp, Farm Tools, American Legion Post 72, Ohio Sports Center, Tappan Stove, Komito's Clothes and Ideal Electric. All must submit a $10 entry fee to Phil Mauger, tournament manager before July 1 to play in the joust.

Teams invited will be within a forty or fifty mile radius of Mt. Vernon according to Mauger. No all-star teams will be allowed and a first prize of $100 will go to the winning team with lesser prizes to runnersup.

Hogan, Demaret Favorites In Inverness Golf Tourney

By FRITZ HOWELL
(Ohio AP Sports Editor)

TOLEDO — (AP) — The screwy-scoring 11th Inverness four-ball matches, for a $10,500 pot of gold, get under way today.

Sixteen of the country's top-flight professionals, paired into eight two-man teams, will battle it out over 126 holes during the next four days, with all entrants assured a pay day.

Ben Hogan and Jimmy Demaret, the one-two finishers in the recent national open, will go after their third straight Inverness crown—and the $3,000 slice of the prize melon. The two Texans also won in 1941, giving them three of the last four championships. The war washed away the 1943-44-45 events.

Seeking to oust the Hogan-Demaret duo from the throne will be Ed Furgol, the Michigan youngster with the crippled left arm, paired with Bobby Locke, the South African champion; Dr. Cary Middlecoff and Australian-born Jim Ferrier, the 1947 PGA king; Stewart (Skip) Alexander and Johnny Palmer, a pair from Dixie; drawling Clayton Heafner and Herman Keiser, former Masters victor; ex-open champion Lloyd Mangrum and curly-haired Dick Metz; long-hitting Melvin (Chick) Harbert and Vic Ghezzi, former PGA champion; E. J. (Dutch) Harrison and Bob Hamilton, another winner of the PGA laurels.

Under the unique Inverness plan, each two-some meets each other pair over the full 18-hole route. For each hole finished "up" on the foe in the best-ball match, the winners get a "plus." The losers get a corresponding "minus."

Scores are carried over from match to match, and at the finish the team with the greatest "plus" grabs the $3,000. The second place prize is $1,700, and then they drop to $1,300, $1,000, $900, $800, $700, and $600—the last pair being assured a payoff of $75 a day each.

Last Home Hurdle

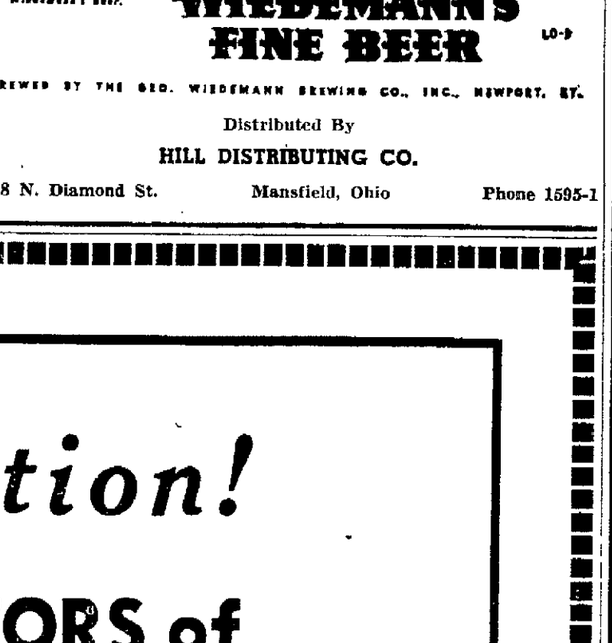
"May you all live long and prosper"



ALL AGES today still thrill as they read the fantastic tale of the beloved Rip Van Winkle and the dwarfs of the Catskill Mountains. Their grandparents and parents actually knew Rip Van Winkle. They saw him impersonated by the great actor, Joseph Jefferson, on the stages of their favorite theatres.

Here he is shown in the studio of the artist, C. T. Webber, posing as Rip, and speaking his famous toast "May you all live long and prosper." There is no more appropriate sentiment than this—and no more delightful drink with which to offer it than Wiedemann's Fine Beer.

Lie Cancels Peace Tour In Palestine

Will Visit Paris, Geneva, London

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y. — (UNS) —U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie has announced that for the moment he has decided against a peace tour of Palestine during his forthcoming trip overseas.

Lie said he has shifted his plans and for the present will confine himself in July to visits to Geneva, Paris and London. While in London he will consult with British Foreign Secretary Bevin on questions of "mutual interest."

Although the secretary-general was vague on the tenor of his talks with Bevin, it is taken for granted at Lake Success that Palestine will be the major topic.

The secretary general also plans to attend the opening of the Olympic games in London next month.

Lie said that in view of failure by Congress to act on the $65,000,000 loan for the construction of Manhattan U. N. headquarters, a delay of one to two years in building plans is now inevitable.

He discounted the growing reports that the U. N. would desert New York and move to Europe.

Charcoal Aids Apple Storage

ITHACA, N. Y. — (AP) — The storage life of apples can be increased 20 percent by using charcoal "gas masks" in storage rooms, two Cornell University scientists found.

Ripe apples give off ethylene gas, they discovered, and this gas will make other apples in the room ripen much faster. Using the gas mask principle, Drs. C. E. F. Guterman and R. M. Smock circulated the storage room air through containers of charcoal. The charcoal captured the ethylene gas and cleaned the air. Tests have been made in actual commercial storage, they said, and in a normal year at normal prices the method might add $500,000 to growers' profits.

WHAT MAKES A GOOD NEWSPAPER

Independent Editorial Policy

The News-Journal believes that the general welfare of the United States and the preservation of its free democratic government should be the first concern of every American citizen and every American newspaper.

The News-Journal believes that after its obligation to do its part in upholding America and democracy, its next obligation is to the community which it serves and in which it lives, works and transacts business—in Mansfield, Richland county and the surrounding area.

To this end, over the years of its service and business in Mansfield, The News-Journal has evolved and developed an editorial policy which this newspaper's publisher and editors believe to be the most effective possible in upholding these aims.

Simply stated, The Mansfield News-Journal editorial policy sums up to this:

Print the news objectively and completely as possible. Where circumstances indicate, probe into the facts behind the news and print those facts. Give to readers, insofar as possible, both sides of every story. When issues of importance arise, The News-Journal feels that it is this newspaper's duty to express its opinion editorially and to help its readers to analyze and weigh the issues so that the public may be guided to form its own opinion honestly and in the best interest of the community and the nation.

The editors of The Mansfield News-Journal have this creed, by which they are bound and in the light of which they go about their daily tasks:

"This newspaper's editorial policy is neither influenced nor controlled by any merchant, manufacturer, banker, utility company, politician, labor leader, pressure group or organization."

In the application of this policy the newspaper frequently finds itself opposed by other interests. As a result of pursuing this policy, the newspaper has been condemned, sued, assailed, and on two occasions, the newspaper's plant has even been bombed. We are proud to say also that we have been praised and commended, and that The Mansfield News-Journal has enjoyed a steady growth in both its size and its acceptance by the readers in this area.

This newspaper stands for honesty in government, for a square deal for the public, for rule by the majority, for law and order, for honest and equitable utility rates, for civic growth and support of community-sponsored enterprises, for the support of churches and schools and for the general welfare of the community and nation.

Politically, The News-Journal is an independent newspaper. Its support or opposition to either candidates or issues is based on the candidates and issues themselves. The newspaper is pledged to no party's principles and to no politician's welfare.

The policies of The News-Journal are based on an abiding conviction that this newspaper's greatest contribution to the good of the community can always be made by supplying information completely, briefly, honestly and in a manner easily read and understood. This newspaper believes that freedom of speech and of the press is essential to the well-being of the democracy, and that where the people are informed, they themselves will find the way.

POWERFUL FIST—World's greatest cyclotron is this 184-inch atom smasher on the campus of the University of California. It produces 10 times the power generated by university's 60-inch cyclotron.

★ ★ ★

Gigantic New Cyclotrons On Way

Huge 'Smashers' Hasten Atomic Age

CHICAGO, Ill.—(CP)—The heaviest artillery yet developed for bombardment of the atom is about to be rolled into position. In a few months, two gigantic new cyclotrons—atom smashers—will enable scientists to probe deeper into the rapidly unfolding mysteries of the atomic age.

In addition, the most mammoth instrument of this type ever envisaged by the atomic scientists has just been ordered. Considering what has already been done with the great cyclotron at the University of California and the 30-odd others in the country, the possibilities are sensational to say the least.

The first of the big new guns will be ready in a few weeks at Columbia university's new supercyclotron building at Nevis, Irvington-on-Hudson, N. Y. Its great magnet weighs 2,500 tons —as much as five large railway locomotives.

The University of Chicago here plans to have its new giant in operation by September in a great new building under construction almost across the street from the section of football bleachers surrounding Stagg field.

It was there in 1942 Dr. Enrico Fermi and his associates accomplished the first sustained atomic fission and paved the way to the atom bomb.

The Chicago instrument is costing at least $1,500,000, and its building $1,500,000 additional. It also will have a 2,500-ton magnet, and will develop an energy of 400,000,000 electron volts. How it will compare with Columbia's cyclotron is not known exactly, and for a few months at least Columbia will have undisputed claim to the largest.

NEARLY SAME SIZE

Both are virtually the same size, however, as the present "champion" as the University of California. That great instrument is under the supervision of amazing Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence, who in 1939 invented the cyclotron as the most practical instrument yet devised for bombarding the nucleus of an atom.

Dr. Lawrence is at work building a new behemoth which will use a 4,900-ton magnet. Eventually all these will be far surpassed in size by the tremendous cyclotron on order for the Brookhaven National laboratory of the United States Atomic Energy commission. Its magnet will have a diameter of 160 feet, big enough to hold several houses, and is expected to hurl a proton stream at a 10,000,000,000 electron-volt velocity.

Although it is natural to compare the mammoth instrument in size, they actually are not in competition at all.

Each will be devoted to a specialized task in atomic development, the particular bent being determined mainly by the interests and qualifications of the atomic scientists in charge.

Dr. Lawrence, for instance, is directing most of his energy toward the splintering of different kinds of nuclear fragments from nuclei of atoms, and he has created more than 100 new isotopes, or "chemical twins of common elements," and turned some elements into others.

The Chicago cyclotron will be devoted exclusively to the all-out campaign against cancer. Columbia's is to be used "to probe the interior of the constituents of the nucleus, the protons and neutrons, to see whether they are really stable structures."

As would be expected, the Brookhaven cyclotron probably will be devoted mainly to basic research relating to national defense and harnessing the atom for industrial power.

Coast City Wavers On Cable Cars

Voters Reject Purchase Plan

By JAMES D. WHITE

SAN FRANCISCO —(AP)— You never can tell about San Francisco. Take cable cars. Now the people want them, now they don't.

This city of hills, fog and sunshine invented the cable car system for its giddy grades. It has kept on using it longer than any other. Now it may be turning its back on two-thirds of the remaining 17 miles of its one-time 112 miles of track.

For a dime the dinky hill-climbers, drawn by an underground cable, give you the lift of an elevator and the steep grade of a roller-coaster. Tourists love this. So do many San Franciscans.

Any threat to junk the antiquated lines brings letters of protest from across the land and arouses concerted howls from local groups who would keep their town linked to its colorful past.

So it was natural, last fall when San Franciscans voted $20,000,000 to improve the rest of their outworn transit system, that they voted also to keep the city-owned cable car line. This is the one that noses up Powell street from the turntable at Market, over the shoulder of Nob hill, and down to Fisherman's wharf.

In the June 1 election it was a different story. San Franciscans kept their hands in their pockets and failed to vote the city authority to buy "the other" cable car line. This is the one owned and operated by a private concern, the California Street Cable railroad. In some ways the California street line is more scenic than the better-known Powell street line.

The company, saying it could not make the line pay without hiking fares or lowering wages, or both, had offered to sell its 10.2 miles of track, with equipment, for $200,000. This sounded like a bargain to a lot of folks, but the voters said "no."

Mayor Elmer Robinson said the people passed up a "good deal."

There was talk of asking the voters once more to buy the line next fall, and two ladies even started a movement to get 20,000 people to donate $10 each to buy it and present it to the city.

Then the company reorganized, withdrew its offer to sell, and reached a new agreement with its workers which paid them the same wages as municipal employes. They had been working for less. Cable cars do such things to people. The agreement reportedly extends the life of the line for a year.

Board Approves Fund Transfer

Transfer of $25,640 from the Public Utilities excise tax fund to the Richland county relief fund has been authorized by the county commissioners.

County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said the transfer is a routine action, made to supplement the relief fund.

The Public Utilities excise fund is made up from a state tax of one per cent on the gross receipts must go for relief purposes.

7 Candidates Placed In Nomination at GOP Convention

Talks Last For Period Of 7 Hours

Partisans Stage Noisy Parades

CONVENTION HALL, PHILADELPHIA —(INS)— Seven candidates for the Republican presidential nomination were formally placed in the GOP balloting contest during an historic seven-hour session which ended at 3:02 a. m. EST today.

Tired, perspiring delegates streamed from the convention hall after Chairman Joseph W. Martin jr. banged his gavel for the last time and announced that the convention would reconvene at 1 p. m. EST today.

It was a wearing but dramatic session during which these presidential candidates were formally placed in nomination in this order:

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the front-running candidate under fire from his opponents for staging a "blitz."

Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Dewey's chief contender.

Gov. Earl Warren of California.

Former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota.

Sen. Raymond Baldwin of Connecticut, a "favorite son" and possible vice presidential nominee.

Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, of Michigan, a leading "dark horse" for any compromise.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The session which began at 8:15 p. m. Wednesday lasted a little more than seven hours.

NOMINATIONS CLOSED

William Livengood, secretary of internal affairs of Pennsylvania and convention sergeant-at-arms, announced following the near-dawn recess that all nominations had been closed.

This wound up the candidate entries without presentation of the name of Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, who was the "favorite son" of his delegation.

The long night session had more than its share of colorful and noisy demonstrations as the candidates were nominated and seconded for first place on the GOP 1948 ticket.

Five hours after the session began, the names of the "big four" candidates—Dewey, Taft, Warren and Stassen—had been placed in nomination to the accompaniment of explosive demonstrations.

Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, locked in a desperate struggle for delegate support against Thomas E. Dewey, touched off the longest demonstration when his name was placed in nomination by Sen. John W. Bricker, his junior Senate colleague.

Dewey won first position in the historic nominating session when Alabama yielded its position to Pennsylvania so Sen. Edward Martin could put the New Yorker's name officially before the convention.

Gov. Earl Warren of California followed Taft, his name being placed in nomination by Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul of the University of California.

Rep. Walter H. Judd of Minnesota did the nominating honors for Harold E. Stassen, ex-governor of the Gopher state, and the young liberal candidate was given one of the most forceful ovations of the drawn-out session.

Take Orders For Tickets

Members of the committee in charge of plans for the Mastersingers benefit concert on Aug. 23, were concentrating their attention today on the sale of tickets for the "regular customers" who will be given priority.

The sale, committee members said, will be limited until after Saturday to those who Monday and Tuesday nights received reservation markers in their programs at the concerts at John Simpson auditorium. After Saturday the sale will be thrown open to the public.

So far, 65 reservations have been turned in. Committee members today urged that reservations be sent in to the Chamber of Commerce, Farmers Bank building, in care of the Mastersingers

The benefit concert has been planned with the backing of the Chamber of Commerce to give the Mastersingers adequate funds with which to finance their Lake Chautauqua engagement on Aug. 28 and 29. Transportation, special outfits and other incidental expenses are expected to bring the cost of the engagement close to $1,500.

At the benefit concert on Aug. 23, the same program will be presented that will be given at Chautauqua. In addition, a top-flight artist will be brought to Mansfield to appear on the program with the Mastersingers

Clear Fork Low Bidders Announced

City Accepts Three Offers, Rejects One

The Mansfield city board of control today announced low bidders on three separate contracts for purchase of equipment for the Clear Fork Pump station project and rejected all bids on a fourth contract. Bids accepted totaled $36,253.

The Westinghouse corporation was named low bidder on the three contracts accepted. These included a $7,632 contract for purchase of several 500-volt transformers, a $9,347 contract for purchase of transformers and substation equipment, and a $19,274 contract for purchase of switchboard equipment.

The board found no bids acceptable on a contract for purchase of pumps and motors for the project. Mayor Roy W. Vaughn said the contract would be readvertised.

Meanwhile, the mayor said the board had approved a 10-year lease of part of an acre on the Lexington-Alta road to the Ohio Public service company for construction of a sub-station there in connection with the Clear Fork project. Vaughn said the lease was for $10 a year.

300 Saved From Flood

OKLAHOMA CITY — (AP) — Highway patrolmen, working against the crest deadline of the rampaging Canadian river, early today evacuated 300 persons in the eastern Oklahoma farm community of Whitefield.

Persons in that town were more fortunate than those in other sections of Oklahoma, where nine have been found drowned and 3,000 others made homeless. With other communications out, walkie-talkie radio sets were pressed into service in an effort to locate other flood victims.

Hydro in the western Oklahoma wheat belt was hardest hit. An unofficial 19 inches of rain caused a flash flood on Deer creek which inundated the city.

At Oklmulgee in no-theastern Oklahoma, National Guardsmen patrolled streets against looters after the business district was under water.

Oklmulgee creek, which cuts through the heart of that city of 18,000 persons, forced almost 2,000 persons from their homes. All roads from the town were cut off by the high waters.

Round Lost By Ferguson

COLUMBUS —(INS)— State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson had lost another round today in his battle against those who would put a new elevator in the statehouse.

The second district court of appeals rejected the auditor's plea that the Public Works Director George B. Sowers be ordered to give Ferguson his choice of office space to make up for that to be taken from his office by the elevator shaft.

Ferguson claimed the space Sowers offered was unsuitable but the court found Wednesday that the new space will be 487 feet larger than what the auditor will lose

Firm Gets Contract

BUCYRUS — Award of the contract for construction of a filtration softening plant for Bucyrus waterworks was made Wednesday by the Bucyrus board of control to the Richland Construction company of Mansfield on its bid of $463,000, lowest of four bids received.

Original estimate of the cost of the plant was $387,000. Because the lowest bid exceeded the estimate, city council at its last meeting voted to sell $60,000 in bonds to meet the difference in cost.

Three hundred thousand dollars in bonds were issued in the spring to meet the original estimate.

Stratovision Makes Debut

ZANESVILLE—(U.P.)—Sen. John W. Bricker appeared a bit fuzzy on the screen, but, all in all, stratovision's maiden demonstration was not bad, the experts agreed today.

More than 50 science writers and technical experts gathered at the Country club here last night to watch the first demonstration of air-borne television.

Zanesville normally is out of range of the nation's television stations, but a reconverted B-29, flying lazy circles 28,000 feet above Pittsburgh, picked up the National Republican convention telecast from Philadelphia and relayed it to Zanesville and other points with a 500-mile radius.

Price Break Brings Sudden End to Boom In Oil Stocks

NEW YORK—(INS)—Public dabblers in the low priced oils were reminded today that what goes up must come down.

Price breaks running to 3½ points in Richfield oil, the bull favorite of only a few days ago, marked the end—at least for the time being—of the wild rush to buy petroleum shares.

Maracaibo, a low-priced favorite, fell nearly 2 points and Panhandle Producing, Sinclair and some of the higher priced shares gave up fractions.

Trading started with a rush this morning, running up a total of 410,000 shares in the first hour and forcing the use of abbreviated quotations. This quieted down, however, when prices lost new upward thrust.

Twenty-two boys between 8 to 15 took their third YMCA "rubberneck" trip yesterday through the City building.

Chief Lonnie J. Steele took the youths on a conducted tour through the fire department and found the boys most interested in his explanation of the "sliding pole" and even more in his demonstration.

Earl T. Garrison, service-safety director, escorted the boys through the City building and was quite amused, as were the office girls, when one of the younger boys sat in the mayor's chair and was lost behind the large desk, only the top of the boy's head was in sight.

GOP States Case In Platform

ADOPTION of a party "platform" is a part of the routine procedure of a national political convention, and this chore was completed by the Republicans in Philadelphia yesterday, in advance of starting the also routine procedure of placing the names of candidates in nomination.

While there was considerable controversy in the resolutions committee over various planks in the platform, the completed instrument is about what could be expected in its statement of principles, pledges, promises, and adverse criticism of the Truman administration.

As to foreign policy, the platform cuts away from isolationism and follows the Vandenberg formula of internationalism, with pledge of support to the United Nations and promise of a policy designed to "avoid the misunderstandings from which wars result."

Coupled with assurance of aid to peace-loving nations to restore their economic independence, is the cautious restriction: "Within the prudent limits of our economic welfare," and also the assurance, "We shall insist on businesslike and efficient administration of all foreign aid."

Viewing the domestic scene, the platform fairly rings with high purposes:

Encouragement of small business through aggressive anti-monopoly action . . . correction of tax abuses and elimination of competition by governmental organizations;

A realistic and adequate adjustment of benefits on a cost-of-living basis for service-connected disabled veterans and their dependents . . . with highest possible standards of medical care and hospitalization.

"Housing," it is contended, "can best be supplied and financed by private enterprise; but government can and should encourage the building of better homes at less cost."

Also pledged is an attack on the basic causes of inflation, with present "cruelly high prices" blamed, "in large part," on administration policies that have "deliberately encouraged higher prices."

Extension of social security benefits; more adequate hospital facilities and the fostering of a "healthy" America; prompt enactment of legislation to end the infamy of lynching or any other form of mob violence, and equality of opportunity in the right to work, are among the platform pronouncements.

A note of high resolve is sounded in the concluding sentence of the platform—a sentence which some may regard as out of place in the midst of the turmoil that marks a typical political convention such as is now drawing to a close in Philadelphia. The platform concludes:

"Guided by these principles, with continuing faith in Almighty God; united in the spirit of brotherhood, and using to the full the skills, resources and blessings of liberty with which we are endowed; we, the American people, will courageously advance to meet the challenge of the future."

As Ordered By Supreme Court

THE MOST populous county in South Carolina has agreed to let Negroes vote in the Democratic primary. This is Greenville county, containing the city of the same name, and same city in which a year ago an all-white jury acquitted 23 fellow townsmen who had admitted participation in the lynching of a Negro.

The Supreme Court of the United States is partly responsible for this extension of the rights of citizenship. Until 1945 Negroes were barred from voting in South Carolina primaries. The Supreme Court declared this illegal.

Then followed attempts to repeal all primary laws and turn the political parties into private clubs, from which Negroes might presumably be lawfully barred. This plan also met court disapproval. The Greenville county Democrats apparently have given in with good grace, and will respect the Constitution.

Doing His Neighbor 'a Good Turn'

IT IS PROBABLY a legend, but politicians tell that at one national convention several votes were cast for a vice-presidential candidate of whom not even the oldest person present had ever heard.

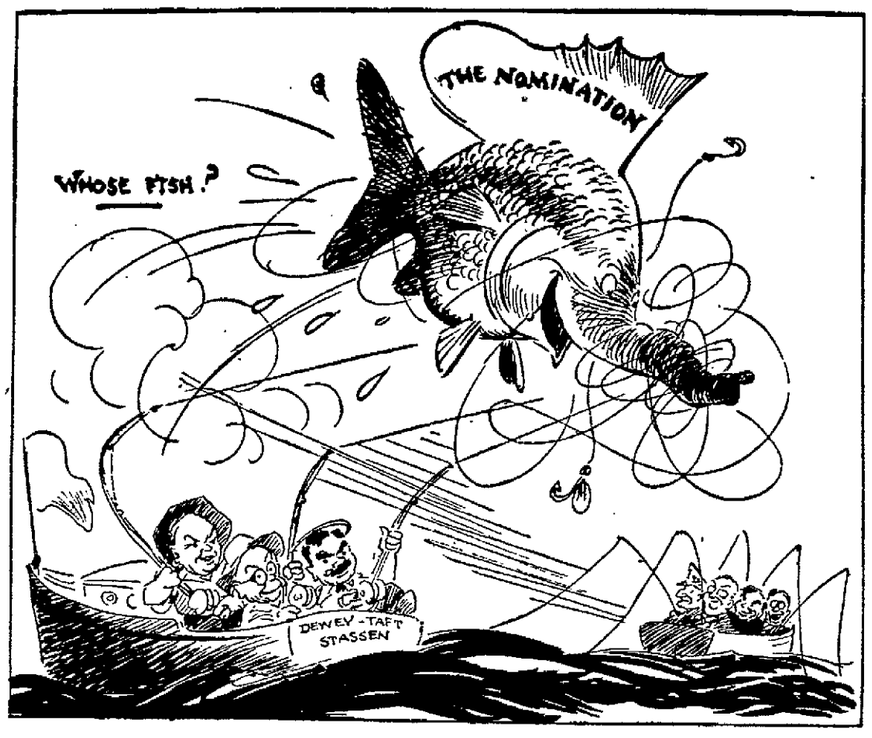
Finally the search led to one state delegation and one delegate in it. Asked who So-and-So was whom he had supported for vicepresident, the delegate replied, "Oh, he's my nextdoor neighbor. He had done me several good turns, and I thought I would do something for him."

Some vicepresidential nominations appear to have been made for no better reason than this.

The present situation is neatly revealed by a small classified ad that appeared in the New Haven Register: "High school student wants job for summer; $1 an hour minimum" —to which H. I. Phillips adds: "Saturdays and Sundays off?"

Many things are deplored as "not what they used to be," when they're probably much better.

Now's the time to learn how to swim.



Question Arises Among the Fishermen.

Viewing the National Scene

Pattern Is Taking Form

By THOMAS L. STOKES

PHILADELPHIA—A pattern is beginning to emerge from this Republican convention which, in its early stages, was as formless and leaderless as any in a long time.

It is evolving from the necessity of working out a practical line-up in the party, not only in its candidate for president, who is very likely to be the next president of the United States, but also in Congress, so that the party can go forward on an effective program of international co-operation.

It now appears possible of execution because of the apparent ascendancy here of the wing of the party in favor of international co-operation.

It calls for the nomination of Governor Dewey of New York on an early ballot.

It is a practical plan to meet a practical situation and calls for the compromises always necessary in the formulation of a program of action by a political party with as diverse interests and elements as are both our major parties.

The initial necessity from which it grows may be best, if most simply, expressed by saying what has become trite here, which is that the whole world is watching this convention. That is because of the expectation that the man nominated here is to become the next president of the United States. Responsible leaders here realize what that means.

The world is watching anxiously because of the fear aroused abroad by the last session of Congress, especially in its closing days and particularly in the House, that there is a powerful element in the Republican party that is determined to reduce the scope of our international co-operation and withdraw ourselves more closely within our own borders, an element now generally known as "nationalists."

That element, though finally checked in the last Congress after a bitter fight, is indeed powerful—the ruling clique headed by Speaker Martin (Mass.) and including Representative Taber (N. Y.), chairman of the appropriations committee who exercises the power of the purse in an almost dictatorial manner, and the midwestern group of "nationalists"—Representatives Halleck (Ind.), majority floor leader; Allen (Ill.), chairman of the rules committee which decides what bills can go to the floor and under what restrictions they can be considered; Arends (Ill.), party whip, and Brown (Ohio), ranking Republican on the rules committee, who is manager of the Taft campaign here.

* * *

Completing the Pattern.

IF THE PARTY is to continue a course of effective international co-operation, it must have a check on this powerful element in Congress. So Congress becomes just as important as is the candidate for president in a pattern for the party.

The line for a real program of international co-operation has been held in the Senate. There it must continue to be held. That is to be the defense for the next president, as it has been for the present Democratic occupant.

The line has been held in the Senate because of the leadership of Senator Vandenberg of Michigan. There the major threat has been Senator Taft of Ohio who, though he went along with Senator Vandenberg finally on appropriations for the European recovery program, nevertheless sought earlier to cut the figure to about the amount to which the House reduced it before the larger figure finally was restored.

The pattern evolving here calls for Senator Vandenberg to remain at his post in the Senate as an offset to the House "nationalist" bloc and for Senator Taft who, if not nominated here for president, will continue his post for leadership in the Senate and would be expected in the future to resume his general policy of restricted international undertakings.

Senator Vandenburg in the last few days has frankly recognized the problem of his party in conversation with friends and is resigned to remain in the Senate.

That explains his reluctance to become a candidate, which has dismayed some of his friends and champions here. In private conversation he has expressed support for Governor Dewey.

This pattern would leave Senator Taft, the other leading candidate, as party leader in the Senate, which would be generally pleasing because of his legislative ability and his success in managing the party's domestic program.

Looking Back

Twenty Years Ago Today

Sunday, June 24, 1928.

A number of Mansfield residents visited young people at Y. W. C. A. camp at Brinkhaven.

Frances "Peaches" Heenan Browning, of New York, a vaudeville entertainer, was in General hospital here after having been injured in auto accident near Johnsville.

Word was received that three Mansfield teachers, Miss Emma Waring, Miss Mary Bloor and Mrs. B. L. Chase, had landed safely in Southhampton, England, as start of European trip.

Fifth annual picnic of Mansfield Italians was held at South Park, with estimated attendance of 600.

Emil Jennings in "The Last Command" was screen attraction at the Ohio.

Fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Tingley was observed by dinner at home of Mrs. Harold Tingley, 56 State street.

Ensign Ditmer, of Columbus, succeeded Ensign R. W. Amore as commanding officer of Salvation Army here.

Washington Calling

Television Gets Tryout

By MARQUIS CHILDS

PHILADELPHIA — In all the welter of speculation and rumor, one thing is true of this convention. Never before has the news of any event been so extensively and lovingly spread to a waiting world as the events in the drama occur.

In addition to the familiar techniques — press, radio, newsreels — is the new one of television. This complicated new technology, with the hundreds of specialists required for its operation, adds another dimension in reporting.

The television lights burn fiercely in the steamy hall. On either side of the auditorium are elevated platforms on which batteries of newsreel cameramen grind away. The awkward-looking television recorders are spotted high up about the galleries.

Press and radio have been dealt with most generously by the GOP committee on arrangements. Of the 13,106 seats in the hall, more than 2,000 are given over to men and women writing and broadcasting. They stretch out in serried ranks on either side of the platform and the runway that gives onto it.

Back of the platform in glass-enclosed cages are the broadcasting booths of all the major networks. Here broadcasters and technicians, sweating like galley slaves, pour millions of words into the ether.

Never at any convention before have there been so many correspondents of foreign newspapers and press associations. By cable and wireless telephone more millions of words are going out to every corner of the globe.

Back of the men and women who put the words down on paper or into a microphone is an army of technicians. Twenty-four hours a day they work sending out the infinite variety of electrical impulses that spell out what is happening, or what someone thinks is happening in this assembly.

In a small grass plot just outside the press entrance to Convention Hall is a helicopter belonging to one of the newsreel companies. It rushes newsreel prints and television recordings to the airport where they are flown by chartered plane to the Middle West and the West Coast.

* * *

Words, Words, Words!

LISTENING to an anxious politico work his way through a mediocre speech, wilting in the glare of light beating down on him, you can't help but wonder if we haven't overdone this business of technology.

With all these fantastic new devices for magnifying the human voice to infinity, there is the dark suspicion that no one has anything much to say.

The instruments of the new technology are so demanding, so insistent, that they get in the way of the kind of expression that seems to carry weight and conviction. That is true particularly of television in its present stage of development.

When the first telegraphic cable was opened between London and India toward the end of the last century, the newspapers made a great fuss about it. They invited comment from famous persons, among them the philosopher-critic, John Ruskin. He said:

"The cable is an interesting device. But what do you have to say to India?"

That question is pertinent here and now. The world is waiting today to learn what this assembly does. People everywhere want to know how well representative government works in these United States.

They will get cold comfort from some of the speeches that are being made. Gov. Dwight Green's keynote address, with its evasions, its platitudes, its remarkable cotradictions from one sentence to another, its wistful backward glances, leaves a great vacuum that no amount of amplification and magnification can possibly fill.

A long time ago another assembly met here in Philadelphia. The men who met in that constitutional assembly lacked radio, television, even the telegraph. Yet their words echoed around the globe. Perhaps there's a moral in this for us today, with our vast and costly apparatus that transmits the slightest whisper of thought.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Behind the Scenes In Michigan Politics

By DREW PEARSON

PHILADELPHIA—The supporters of statesmanlike Senator Vandenberg should have known that hell hath no fury like a woman scorned. Their biggest mistake at the opening of the convention was to kick out Mrs. Dudley Hay after her many years of hard work as national committeewoman and as secretary of the GOP national committee.

For thereby hangs a tale of political finagling which goes straight to the doors of some of the biggest Republican leaders in Michigan—a tale which does not help the presidential future of Arthur Vandenberg.

Some time ago, two big-shot Michigan gamblers, Danny Sullivan and Lincoln Fitzgerald, were indicted and immediately become fugitives from justice. Skipping to Nevada, they established the Nevada club in wide-open Reno and stayed there, thumbing their noses at Michigan law.

Efforts to have them extradicted on the part of Ed Jacobs, McComb county prosecutor, failed.

Finally, Jacobs and Mrs. Dudley Hay, secretary of the Republican national committee, went to Washington, enlisted the support of Senator Malone of Nevada, and he in turn appealed to Senator Vail Pittman of Nevada, who immediately moved to send Danny Sullivan and Lincoln Fitzgerald back to the arms of the law in Michigan.

From that moment on, says Mrs. Hay, her chances of re-election as Republican national committeewoman from Michigan were nil. County Prosecutor Jacobs hears her out. The big GOP leaders of Michigan turned thumbs down.

* * *

Campaign Contributions.

THE Michigander who led the ouster of Mrs. Hay was Arthur Summerfield, Republican national committeeman, also one of the vigorous urgers of Vandenberg for president.

Summerfield has been president of the Detroit Automobile Dealers Association, which, during the war, worked out a deal with the state whereby its books were not audited for payment of the sales taxes. The dealers were supposed to pay the tax without any audit.

Now it develops that some of them did not pay sales taxes and they have been indicted.

Simultaneously Michigan Attorney General Eugene Black charges that though the auto dealers did not pay taxes to the state, they did pay GOP campaign contributions to Mr. Summerfield. They could afford one but not the other.

In fact, Summerfield held one meeting of the auto dealers at which they agreed to an assessment of $1 for every car sold in 1947—this money to go into the GOP campaign chest for Vandenberg.

Attorney General Black, himself a Republican, strongly hints that this donation to the Republican party was tied up with the deal whereby the auto dealers did not have their books audited for sales-tax payments. Black has also stated that he planned to bring Summerfield himself before a grand jury just as soon as the Republican convention is over.

* * *

Behind the Scenes.

ANOTHER backstage development inside the Michigan group was a private conference between Senator Vandenberg and Frank McKay, big-shot Republican leader of Michigan and head of the gambling fraternity. McKay, who comes from Grand Rapids, has always been a political backer of Vandenberg, in addition to being a powerful wirepuller in the liquor and race-track fraternity.

McKay was a defendant in a famous trial involving graft and corruption in the sale of liquor, along with a bunch of minor goons and gansters, but got off after two hung juries. He has also been indicted on other counts but never convicted.

William McKeighen, former mayor of Flint and a close associate of McKay's, was also indicted along with the two gamblers, Sullivan and Fitzgerald. He also has been a fugitive from justice.

McKay traveled on the same train to Philadelphia with the Vandenberg forces and has been snug-as-a-bug-in-a-rug with them since.

Politicians recognize that a senator sometimes has to compromise with political leaders back home to be re-elected, but may also feel that with President Truman's weakest spot the Pendergast machine in Kansas City, the Republicans should be careful that their candidate, while a great statesman internationally, does not have clay feet.

It All Seems So Unreal

By KENNETH L. DIXON

PHILADELPHIA — Now they say that it's all over but the shouting and probably they're right — but you can't escape the feeling that it was that way all along. Or maybe it wasn't. It's hard to tell.

It's that feeling of unreality, that sense of looking at something but not actually seeing what it seems you see, that somehow dominates the entire atmosphere here at the Republican convention. Everyone mentions it — even the old-timers at such shindigs.

Sometimes it's that way with big events. It's a gratuitious — and perhaps even wanton — parallel, but it was somewhat that way during the Battle of the Bulge. Then it was Nature that staged the show which seemed to deny the very death which was dealing the cards on all sides. Now it is political ring-masters who do the same.

During those days, we drove through Liege and deep into that fluctuating territory which this hour was ours and the next was Von Runstedt's and vice-versa, and the snow lay thick and heavy on the wierd battleground and bent the branches of the Ardennes trees into curious postures, and the fog thickened the air, and the buzz-bombs rumbling overhead seemed as unreal as the virginal whiteness of the forest.

During those days, we knew—in intimate and often frightful detail — that a battle for survival was in progress in all that blinding whiteness, but the sheer spectacular drama of the setting was so strong upon us that even the men who were falling often found it hard to believe.

And when, to their surprise, their blood spilt and spread in crimson, melting streaks upon the snow, ironically it only added to the total unreality of that wierd setting.

* * *

Feelings Become Mixed

AGAIN I say the parallel is probably quite gratuitious, and certainly the mood which prompts it is without motive. But here you have a convention which confidently believes it is selecting the next President of the United States.

And unquestionably the next President will play a dominant role in deciding whether or not another, and concluding war is to be inflicted on what we call civilization.

So perhaps, in that interpretation, this is even more important than the Battle of the Bulge — although it admittedly sticks in the throat of one who was there to concede that possibility. And, considering it in that respect, the unreality of all the scene and all the daily dramatics creeps over you again. You can't escape the feeling that there is little, if any, connection between the setting and actors, and the real theme and motivating power of the convention.

During the Bulge, the more bitter of the boys knew that what they did there would have little effect on history — if of course, they bothered to think about that phase at all.

Here, I believe the average delegate was equally convinced from the beginning that his role was just as unimportant. Perhaps his state chairman or sectional party chieftain — like a battalion or regimental commander — continued to believe that he could sway the situation.

But mostly you encountered that conviction that the die was cast, even though there was no individual certainty as to which way.

At press conferences and public meetings, the candidates wear fixed smiles and shake hands with all comers . . . At Convention Hall, the speakers get confused by the spotlights and the television, often acting like men in a dream . . . and they leave you with the feeling that even they don't remember what they've said.

And still you can't shake the reaction that the whole thing is quite unreal.

Dave Boone Says:

A MOTHER of four children completed a college course at City college in New York and got her sheepskin the other day. I understand she did it without an electric dishwasher, too.

* * *

The mother, Mrs. Doris Levy, says her four kids, aged nine to 20, did most of the house work, while she went to college. Well, I suppose any children would get a kick out of making mother go to school and seeing that she did her collegiate homework.

* * *

The more I study the American family situation these days the more I believe that no mother can get anywhere without a college education.

* * *

That G.O.P. convention is still on in Philadelphia and if unnecessary noise can produce a man for an emergency this one will do it.

One Man's Opinion

CONVENTION HALL — One thing a defeated candidate should never forget about this convention . . . He had nice weather for it.

* * *

There were very few times that a candidate couldn't have gone for a nice long walk, and the wonder of it is that more of them didn't go sooner.

* * *

There's nothing so touching as a Favorite Son yielding a nomination . . . He does it with the willingness of a traffic cop who has been asked to eat a parking ticket.

* * *

Well, it may be said of the Republicans that while they disagreed on candidates they conceded the November election to themselves.

* * *

In fact they referred to "the future president" so often, I hear Harry was thinking of coming on from Washington for another inspection trip . . . They're cheaper than political trips.

Words of the Wise

The sublime and the ridiculous are often so nearly related, it is difficult to class them separately. One step above the sublime makes the ridiculous, and one step above the ridiculous makes the sublime again.—Thomas Paine.

Farmer's Diary

Live and Let Live

By CALVIN A. BYERS

IF SPEEDING is criminal on the broad, traveled highway where pavement is smooth and traffic is supervised, it is even more criminal along back country roads.

A farmer near us has a high hedge along his yard, which gives his place nice privacy, but poses a problem, too. His little girl, still under school age, plays in and out, runs through the openings in the hedge to the barn across the road, where young kittens are, plays hide and seek with her puppy around the hedge.

The road is downhill, just here, and cars pick up speed, even when driven safely. But a reckless motorist sometimes careens down this grade scattering small stones and leaving a cloud of dust. These parents' fear for the safety of that little girl seems justifiable.

There are varied dangers along back roads . . . which are sometimes too narrow for safely passing another car at a culvert.

Even a small ditch under the road makes a dangerous upset, if a wheel drops into it. There bad places are mostly marked with some kind of road sign but not always.

Farm livestock is also a hazard. It is wise to drive slowly enough to avoid any stray cow or pig or any wild animal. Few motorists are as fortunate as one I heard of, who struck a cow and threw it, via bumper, clear off the road — stone dead. Immediately, he cut its throat, and went back to the farmhouse, to ask the farmer what price he would take for the animal. "Ninety dollars," said the farmer. The motorist gave his check — threw the dead cow over the bumper and took it to a market where he sold it for more than it cost.

In a neighborhood not far from here, a motorist struck and killed a deer, in similar fashion.

Farmers know most of the cars that travel their roads regularly . . . they notice the speed and the habitual risks of each individual driver. If a man will abuse his car, and take chances with it, they figure he will do the same with any other valuable property entrusted to him. Young men do not always realize the far-reaching influence of their driving habits, for or against their own success and ability to get and keep a good job.

Drive sensibly along country roads. Don't think nobody will notice, because you are out of sight of the cops. "Live, and let live," is a good motto, for more than one reason.

The Nation Today

Cold Politics Invades Hot Convention

By JAMES MARLOW

PHILADELPHIA—If you could see this Republican convention from the inside, you'd understand how cold politics is.

There are two worlds here:

1. The roar of the crowd, the lights, the music, the singing, the routine chores of the convention itself.

2. The behind-the-scenes dickering.

Take a look at the candidates themselves, the men who want to be picked by this convention as the Republican nominee for president.

New York's Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Ohio's Senator Robert A. Taft, Minnesota's former Governor Harold E. Stassen, California's Governor Earl Warren, among them.

In the morning the 1,094 delegates flock out to the convention hall for the speeches.

But not one of the candidates shows up there. They stay back in their hotel rooms, with telephones near at hand, and their lieutenants working feverishly.

Their job is to try to win over the support of those delegates who are so busy on the convention floor.

The raw and naked desire for political power is wide open here.

But it isn't hard to understand the drama in this show if these things are taken into account:

1. The presidency of the United States is the highest honor this country has to offer.

2. The Republicans have a better chance of winning this election than at any time since Franklin D. Roosevelt won the Democratic nomination in 1932.

3. With a couple of possible exceptions, the top men here are at the climax of their public service careers.

* * *

This Is the Climax.

TAFT, at 59, may get another crack at the nomination but he's been skating around the edge of it for years. His whole life up to this point has been a build-up for the nomination.

Dewey has been in the public eye a long time—as a racket-buster and then as governor of New York, although he's only 46.

He came close to the nomination in 1940, got it in 1944 but lost, and now once again is looking for it.

Warren has been governor of California several times. He has given his state distinguished service.

But with him, as in the case of Dewey, there isn't much more he can do to win prestige. His life is at a climax here.

Stassen alone of all the candidates seems to be the one who can run again for nomination, if he loses out this time. But where he goes from here—if he doesn't get the nomination—is anybody's guess.

Anyway, with each man's life at a peak here, it is no wonder that they are trying furiously to win the nomination.

But this convention, the speeches and the business of the convention itself are only going through the motions because—

Every one here knows that the real business is being settled quietly behind the scenes.

Walter Lippmann Speaks

Republicans Need More Than Diatribe

PHILADELPHIA—On Monday and Tuesday the principal orators were the men whose leadership and management of the party permitted, indeed enabled, the Democrats to govern the country for 16 years and to elect Roosevelt four times.

Nevertheless, Mr. Reece, Gov. Green, ex-President Hoover and Mr. Martin appeared to be entirely unconscious of the fact that they, and what they have been saying and doing, played any part in giving the Democrats the power to do all the things they complain about.

Never did they admit that they had ever been wrong, less than wise, less than the only true defenders of the faith, or that one trace of humility or magnanimity could be allowed to mitigate their absolute self-righteousness.

It is quite impossible, of course, to examine what they said since none of them said anything which could, even by courtesy, be called a statement of policy.

Baldwin of Connecticut summed up this preliminary oratorical phrase very neatly by remarking dryly that what the American people "seek of us is more than a rehash of warmed-over diatribe."

For that, manifestly, it is necessary that the control of the party should pass into other hands. It is the crucial issue of this convention. The issue is whether the party control is to remain with Messrs. Reece, Martin, Green and the intellectual leadership with Mr. Hoover, or is to be taken over by the new men.

The outcome is still in doubt. But the tentative draft of the platform is a favorable omen. It is clear that the authors of this draft —among them Senator Lodge, Senator Ives and Senator Baldwin —are new men who belong to a different historical epoch than that of the orators.

The draft platform is the work of men who had little or nothing to do with the Republicanism which led up to Roosevelt, and was so utterly incapable of offering effective opposition to him.

If the new men can write the platform, perhaps they can also nominate candidates who think as they do, and have made no stultifying bargains.

SITUATION HOPEFUL

If that happens, there is a fair prospect that the Republican party will become an adequate instrument of government, having been reformed and reconstructed from within.

The draft platform is not, and, of course, should not be, a program of measures. No such program can be written now.

To attempt it would merely tie the hands of the incoming president.

It is, however, a statement of generalities, not merely of slogans and catchwords, to which enlightened and responsible conservatives could be faithful.

The inner intention is best disclosed by the insertion of a rather unusual quotation from Lincoln—unusual in view of the tenor of the Reece, Green, Hoover and Martin orations.

"The dogmas of the quiet past are inadequate to the stormy present. The occasion is piled high with difficulty and we must rise with the occasion. As our case is new, so must we think anew and act anew."

The men who put that quotation into the platform are obviously aware that a party which is going to govern the country in the years to come cannot subsist on a diatribe and flapdoodle.

Kiss Stealer On Probation

A 16-year-old boy who attempted to steal a kiss from a 12-year-old girl last Friday was under a 10-week probationary sentence from juvenile court today.

The youth, selling vegetables, forced his way into a Mansfield home, followed the girl upstairs and tried to kiss her, she told police. He fled when she screamed. He was caught by a neighbor and turned over to police.

The youth was warned and ordered to seek other employment unless his present employer can find a different type of work for him to do.

Stewart Miller, 97 East Third street, was brought into court after he failed to make weekly payments of $12 for the support of one child as ordered June 5. He arranged to make the payments. Miller is on probation for two years.

County Starts Widening Bridge

Word on widening of a bridge on the Rinehart road, northeast of Bellville, started this week, County Engineer Walter E. Rusk reported.

The bridge will be widened from 16 feet to 24 feet by county forces. The estimated $823 cost will be paid out of the road fund.

Commissioners also authorized reinforcing with concrete a sandstone abutment on a bridge on the Tucker road over the Rocky Fork creek in Monroe township. The abutment has been undercut by the stream.

Mansfield Area Called Accident Trouble Spot

"The Mansfield area is one of the high frequency accident spots in the state," Cpl. John L. Bishop, Ohio state highway patrol officer, told members of the Mansfield Optimist club Wednesday.

He pointed out that the majority of the accident reports in the area come from the highly congested traffic on State Route 42.

Speaking at the club's noon luncheon meeting in the Mansfield-Leland hotel, Cpl. Bishop also stressed the important problem facing the state in juvenile delinquency.

"Law enforcement and justice agencies in some cases do not know how to handle the juvenile problem," he said.

He cited the case of a boy now 16 who at the age of 12 was placed in a correctional institution. The boy recently stole an automobile.

"That lad is in trouble and is facing a problem," Cpl. Bishop said, "and it is difficult to find the proper solution for helping him."

Bishop reveiwed the history of the Mansfield area branch of the State Patrol since it was founded 15 years ago.

"During the war when several of our men were in service several Mansfielders formed an auxiliary unit to assist the remaining officers in directing congested traffic and investigating accidents," he said. They were recently re-activated and we welcome their support and assistance."

Bryce J. McMahon, Optimist club president, presided and Charles Riggle served as program chairman.

New Guard Chief Named

BUCYRUS — Carl Kaplanoff, captain in the local B battery of the 17th field artillery of the National Guard, assumed command of the unit today. He succeeds Loren Smith, also a captain of the guard.

Captain Kaplanoff served with the intelligence corps in the European theatre during World War II.

The Bucyrus unit is made up of 35 members, with 42 members considered full strength.

INTO GUARD; OUT OF DRAFT—A group of boys hold up their hands as they take the oath on joining the National Guard in Washington, D. C., thus escaping the draft. They were among the large numbers of men, 19 through 25, throughout the country taking advantage of a provision in the bill which exempts those who are in the National Guard or other active drilling reserve of the armed forces before the measure is signed into law.

Royal Regal Garden Club Entertained

The Royal Regal Garden club were entertained with a delightful luncheon at the home of Mrs. George Gettz on Route 42 Monday, with Mrs. H. E. Humphrey, associate. Places were laid for 16 members. An unusual arrangement of pink roses and pink bachelor buttons in an antique bowl, was most attractive as a centerpiece on the luncheon table.

The regular business meeting followed with roll call being answered by short talks on the individual's suoject for the year. Mrs. L. K. Banks, whose yearly subject is flowering trees, deviated a bit from her subject that she might tell about the flowers in her corsage. They were of Evening Primrose and had been given to her by a neighbor. She explained that this plant blooms in the evening between the hours of seven and eight o'clock, the bud quivering a bit and then suddenly bursting forth in full bloom. The flowers remain open for a day. Their fragrance is exquisite.

Mrs. E. A. Graham, whose yearly subject is wild flowers, discussed the wild morning glory (a corsage of which she, too, was wearing). She explained that the wild morning glory is often called hedge vine weed. It opens in the morning and closes later the same day. It is very ornamental along highways, although sometimes does make a nuisance of itself to gardeners. It is found as far south as South Carolina and west to the Dakotas and Utah.

The program for the afternoon consisted of an interesting talk by Mrs. W. H. Summers on the tulip tree and one on "Plant Life Under the Sea," by Mrs. William A. Stahl. She chose the seaweed as the plant to discuss and explained some of the current uses of Agargel, a product from this lowly plant. A paper was then read on "How to Tell Kinds of Birds By Their Flight."

A breakfast at nine o'clock July 19, at the home of Mrs. F. F. Elder, 549 Cook road, has been planned for the next meeting. Mrs. Elder will be assisted by Mrs. L. K. Banks.

WHILE it is probable that the interest and ready intent of cooperation from those in responsible positions may center on new propositions or programs already incubating, yet there are signs of some rather deep-seated currents of disconcerting or sinister purpose A rash, audacious or provocative move in the wrong direction could jeopardize such support, and magnify the danger of fraud, treachery and evil purpose. Indiscretion, wild proposals bombastic or exaggerated, might prove a bubble burst by the inflation Shun feverish moods speculative and dishonest transactions

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may be the victims of their own rash, speculative or sensational urges, incited by wild and deep-seated drives to overplay their hands, when contacting those ready to give generous support. Dishonest or exaggerated ideas or propositions could become sinister and dangerous and ignominiously defeat very ambitious plans or propositions. For safety and security, hold to sane and above-board evaluation of long-range issues. Danger and risk are rampant in many phases, physical, moral, as well as monetary.

Communists Map Policy In Warsaw

Parley Secrets Closely Guarded

WARSAW — (UP) — Communism's makers of foreign policy continued planning cold war strategy today in a closely guarded meeting in a 17th century palace five miles outside Warsaw

An official communique, issued after the first session of the conference yesterday, said that foreign ministers of Russia and seven of her eastern European satellites were attending.

The Soviet Union's V. M. Molotov, who arrived with three plane-loads of aides and advisers, appeared to be in charge. Authoritative communist sources said the principal purpose of the meeting would be to draft an answer to the six-power agreements of the western allies reached at their recent London talks.

Representatives of Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Romania, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania were on hand, the communique said, when the conference described by a Balkan diplomat as "the biggest and most important since the war," opened in cream-colored Wilanow palace, once the seat of Polish kings.

Some reports said the top Italian and French communists, Palmiro Togliatti and Jacques Duclos, also were present, but this was denied in sources close to the conference, which said that it would not deal with cominform matters.

Complete secrecy was clamped on the conference, which one Polish source said would last until Friday evening, and official announcements of its actions appeared most likely to come from Moscow radio.

(In London, Moscow radio was heard last night announcing that Molotov had arrived in Warsaw. This was the first reference to the meeting there from Russian sources.)

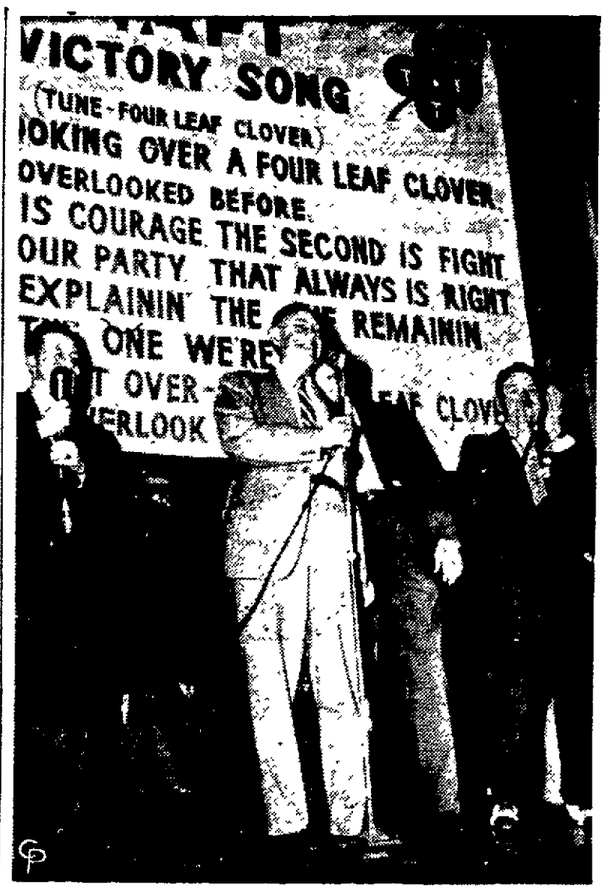
Foreign Minister Zygmunt Modzelewski of Poland presided at the first conference session yesterday.

The western powers — the United States, Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg — agreed in the London meeting to proceed with plans for unification of Germany, with or without Russian participation.

The report that the conference's chief business would be to reply to the six-power decision naturally caused speculation in diplomatic circles here that Russia was considering setting up a separate East German state.

It was believed here that the Russian attempt to extend Soviet currency reform to all of Berlin, including the sectors held by the western powers, might be regarded as the first move to integrate Berlin in the Soviet zone of Germany.

Berlin is deep within the Soviet zone and would be the logical capital for any East German state the Russians might form.



LOOKING OVER HIS 4-LEAF CLOVERS—Candidate Taft responds to the plaudits of enthusiastic supporters at Philadelphia's Benjamin Franklin hotel after being introduced by Rep. George H. Bender (right) of Cleveland, who applauds vigorously. The sign carries Taft's campaign song, to the tune of "I'm Looking Over a Four-Leaf Clover."—(International Soundphoto)

Chinese Reds Score Gains

NANKING —(INS)— The victory of communist troops at Kaifeng caused the Chinese parliament to call an extraordinary closed meeting in Nanking for today.

The semi-official Central News agency expressed the belief meanwhile that Nationalist troops are still holding some points in the northern part of the Red-controlled provincial capital of Honon.

Communist truck convoys were reported streaming away from Kaifeng with loads of equipment and supplies. The news agency said the convoys were being attacked by government planes.

Convention Not News In Russia

MOSCOW — (AP) — The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia skipped all mention of the Republican National convention in Philadelphia yesterday and reported instead on the creation of a third party movement supporting Henry A. Wallace in Ohio.

(Ohio's secretary of state, Edward Hummel, banned the party from the ballot. A hearing is pending before the state supreme court on an appeal by followers of Wallace.)

$10,000 Job Too Costly

WASHINGTON —(UP)— James Boyd was wondering today whether he could "afford" to stay on his $10,000-a-year job as director of the bureau of mines. He hasn't been paid in six months.

Boyd was given his third interim appointment by President Truman Tuesday after the Senate again failed to confirm him. Under the law, he could be paid only for the first interim term.

He figures the government now owes him in the neighborhood of $5,000 in back pay. Probably the only way he'll ever get it, he says is through a special bill in Con- [illegible] the lawmakers m[illegible] not return for several months.

Air Races Dates Set

Officials of the National A[illegible] set the 1948 dates for Sept. 4, 5 and 6, Douglas C. Orr, field representative, said today.

Arrangements have been made for Mansfielders to obtain their tickets at the Municipal airport from Clayton Tschantz of Richland Aviation Inc.

Vacant Lots Offered at Public Sale

Properties To Be Sold July 1 For Taxes

None of the 255 Richland county properties to be sold for taxes July 1 contain dwellings, according to Prosecutor Theodore Lutz.

Some of the properties, however, have been improved by the construction of streets, sidewalks, and sewers, for which assessments have been added to the taxes.

The sheriff's sale will start at 9:30 a. m. in the courthouse. It will require several days for the properties to be sold.

Most of the real estate consists of subdivided tracts in Mansfield, Shelby, Lexington, Treace's subdivision, Bowman Heights, City Farms, Collinwood allotment, Crystal Springs, Geddes and Burns allotment, Hoffer addition, Homesite Gardens, Pleasant View, Lincoln Heights, New Trenton and Brookline additions.

Delinquent taxes on the properties range from 93 cents to $954. The total delinquent taxes due amount to slightly more than $9,760.

The sale was ordered in common pleas court after County Treasurer Charles C. Payne certified to Prosecutor Lutz the delinquent taxes and an action was brought in the court.

The lands vary in tax delinquency, from 10 to 25 years. The lots offered are regarded as desirable and considerable interest has been shown in the sale, Lutz said.

He said that in many instances the lands are listed in the names of persons long since deceased, whose heirs are unknown.

The properties can't be sold for less than the delinquent taxes, penalties and interest, plus court costs incident to the foreclosure action and sale, Lutz said.

Enrollments Top 1948-49 Guard Quota

Draft-Age Men Rush to Ranks

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The current parade of draft age men into the National Guard is pushing the enrollment well beyond the quota figure fixed for the coming year, military sources said today.

The parade is prompted by the new selective service bill passed by Congress. President Truman will have until about the first week of July to sign it, and until he does draft-agers may gain draft exemption by joining the Guard or one of the other organized reserve units offering regular military training.

The National Guard bureau several days ago fixed state quotas for Guard units to provide a national total of 341,000 men during the fiscal year starting July 1. The bureau figured this was about all that could be trained under the appropriations available for the next 12 months

But information on the new influx of recruits indicates the Guard may have 375,000 men signed up by the end of this week.

Officials said that apparently many units took the new enlistments before receiving their quota notices.

What will be done about this remains uncertain, except that there is little likelihood of outright discharges. It is probable the Guard will ask the new Congress meeting next January for a deficiency appropriation to provide the extra money needed for training the extra men.

Reports coming into headquarters showed enlistment quotas are being exceeded in New York, Alabama, Texas and Arizona.

Meanwhile, selective service officials estimated registration of men between the ages of 18 through 25 would begin within six weeks after President Truman signs the bill.

Officials said it would take about that long to get the machinery set up.

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Student Pay Average Goes Up Sharply

A sharp increase in the average wage paid to Senior high school pupils who worked part-time during the last school year was shown today in the annual report of the Senior high distributive education department.

J. C. Stout, head of the department, reported that the average pay rose from 51.5 cents an hour in September to 72.9 cents in May.

For the entire year, the 27 pupils who were employed in 22 Mansfield businesses earned an average of 62 cents an hour.

The highest individual earnings was $1,376 and the lowest $213 for the year.

Members of the distributive education class, conducted by J. C. Stout, participated with 800 salespeople in the Retail Institute held during the spring.

Youth Suspected In Holdup Case

NEWARK—(INS)—Licking county sheriff Roe Francis said today the gunman who held up the Red Bar cafe in Newark Tuesday for $3,100 may be Kenneth Harter, 16, of Kirkersville, who escaped at gun-point Sunday from the Franklin county Juvenile center in Columbus.

The bandit wore black gloves to hide fingerprints and had smeared mud on his face to prevent positive identification.

New Effort Made to End Rail Dispute

Conference Called By White House

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The White House Wednesday called new conferences in an effort to settle the deadlocked railroad labor dispute.

Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman summoned leaders of the three unions involved to secret conferences at his White House office.

It was understood Steelman is trying to find a basis for new joint labor-management negotiations to iron out the dispute which nearly touched off a nationwide rail strike last May 11.

The union leaders are the presidents of the engineers, firemen, and switchmens' unions.

The three unions are asking about 25 changes in working conditions and a $3 a day pay increase for their 150,000 members.

The railroads have offered a pay boost of $1.24-a-day and 12 changes in working conditions—the same settlement suggested by a presidential emergency board last March.

The unions currently are forbidden from striking by a federal court injunction obtained by the Justice department last May 10 shortly after President Truman seized the nation's railroads.

The "no-strike" court order has been extended three times and Federal Judge Alan Goldsborough has set a hearing for July 1 to decide whether to make the order permanent.

The conference at the White House was the first meeting in the 18-month-old railroad dispute in more than two weeks. Negotiations broke off at that time when both the unions and the industry refused to retreat from their positions.

AKRON — (AP) — Joseph W. Barrett, 45, last night survived a fall against a high tension line which sheriff's deputies reported carried 7,000 volts. Barrett was working with a construction crew when he fell against a transformer. He was reported in fair condition in near-by Barberton Citizens hospital.

Traveling Salesmen Stories Not True, Claim Their Wives

COLUMBUS — (AP) — The wives of traveling salesmen came to the defense of their joke-battered husbands Wednesday. It is not true, they said, what is said about the man on the road.

Wives of traveling salesmen are here for the 13th annual national convention of the Ladies of United Commercial Travelers of America.

Typical of the comment by the traveling men's wives was that of Mrs. H. G. Ellerbush of Fargo, N. D., who said:

"My husband has been away five days a week for 31 years and I couldn't want a better man. A man who travels a lot misses home life, so when he comes home, he will do anything for his family."

Ellerbush is on the road Monday through Friday as a salesman for an oil firm.

The wife of Robert L. Hornbostel, Sacramento, Cal., who travels for a farm equipment manufacturer, said:

"Although he sells farm equipment, I don't worry about any farmers' daughters. He calls me long-distance regularly and sends nightly letters.

"We've been married 25 years and he has been out on the road most of that time. Each time he returns he seems to love me all the more."

Mrs. S. Ray Halferty of Des Moines, Ia., whose husband travels for a lumber company, said her husband seemed to miss their son and daughter considerably when on the road.

"I don't think there could be a better man for caring for children," Mrs. Halferty said. "When they were small, he would often take complete charge of them."

Claims FDR Aided Disintegration Of Civil Morals In United States

NEW YORK—Sixteen years ago, Franklin D. Roosevelt flew to Chicago to accept the Democratic nomination and begin a long and largely successful campaign for the disintegration of the civic morals of the people of the United States. Only by this degradation of the mass or average character could Roosevelt hope to command the support of the majority of them in the destructive years that have ensued until, in 1948, the only audible reaction to accumulating proof of his personal guilt is condemnation of those who proffer the evidence.

He grafted philatelic treasures for his private fortune and the inheritance of his heirs, worth about half a million dollars.

He craftily conspired to get enormous loans for his son, Elliott, from rich citizens who, with one exception, were conscious of the intimidating intent of the President. The exception was Charles Harwood, a common Brooklyn clubhouse politician with the effrontery to aspire to the federal bench.

★

Harwood wanted, and expected, appointment to the district court or some equally important court and he admitted that he had pointedly made this desire known to Roosevelt, when he loaned $25,000 to Roosevelt's son in a rush-act touch so crude that the Democratic ways and means committee of the House of Representatives didn't dare to go into the particulars but quietly closed the book. The scandal of the Hughes airplane contracts in which Elliott appeared as an advocate of a company which was paying extravagantly for his dissipations in New York and Hollywood night clubs while his subordinates overseas fought against odds, bears the great seal of the old man himself. For, as the evidence and the final report of the senatorial committee declare for the historical record, Roosevelt himself was the final authority who put through the deal. It was done verbally to prevent detection, but the truth came out at last.

Divorce in our court circles has become commonplace and has had its evil effect on the conduct of the people as a whole, as the rise in the divorce rate shows. Never, before Roosevelt's presidency, had the element of the nation to whom the people look for leadership set such an example. Political though it is, the office of the presidency has always had a strong moral influence—for better or for worse.

Roosevelt's mocking cynicism was so violent in the very beginning that the people were shocked and set to reeling and gasping. He stunned them. They didn't believe a man could be so audaciously dishonest, right to their faces.

Roosevelt mocked truth, honesty, trust, confidence and the rights and dignity of his fellowmen, including his own pals, as their sad memoirs are now revealing to the world.

★

He had no more respect for the elements of Christianity than he had for his own campaign promises. He played the cross against the star and crescent and turn about as it suited his ruthless vanity and sordid purpose to do so.

The millions who never knew any other President than Roosevelt and his ignorant successor, now reduced to poolroom repartee and the impudence of the Kansas City underworld which sent him to the Senate, will not know that any other standard ever existed.

Record Shows Senator Taft's Stand on National Defense

TO NOBODY'S SURPRISE, on Oct. 24, 1947, Senator Taft announced he was a candidate for the biggest and toughest job in the world—President of the United States.

Any competent observer will tell you that the job to which Senator Taft aspires will be even tougher and bigger by 1949 than it is today. . . . Foremost among the problems which will continue to beset the President are problems of national defense and foreign affairs. The people of the country are entitled to know where Senator Taft and any other presidential candidates stand on these problems. And this reporter proposes to show them.

★

On January 23, 1939, almost four months after the Munich disgrace, Taft vigorously opposed FDR's request for additional $200,000,000 for defense. Events have already shown the stupidity of Taft's opposition to FDR's frantic efforts to build up our defenses.

★

On April 20, 1939, when the European crisis was rapidly coming to a head, Taft criticized the Roosevelt administration on the ground that "every member of the government, whether it lies in his province or not, is ballyhooing the foreign situation, trying to stir up prejudice against this country or that, and at all costs take the minds of the people off their troubles at home." Everyone now knows that on Sept. 1, 1939, the Nazis invaded Poland.

★

On Sept. 21, 1939, after Poland had been overrun, Taft bellowed: "I see no possibility of England and France being overwhelmed by Germany, but if that should happen, terrible as the defeat of the English and French would be, there is no reason why it would lead to a German attack on the United States if we have remained neutral."

★

On August 13, 1940, shortly after France was overwhelmed (a result he saw "no possibility of" in September, 1939), he accused supporters of the military training bill of generating hysteria for the creation of a huge and unneeded army, and stated that "we should not exaggerate the character of the emergency. . . . I shudder to hear the words 'total defense'." On Aug. 28, 1940, he voted against the compulsory military training bill and against a bill which would authorize the President to requisition plants and equipment in the interest of national defense.

In a speech on Jan. 25, 1941, he denounced the Lend-Lease bill as a measure "to make Uncle Sam the best and biggest Santa Claus the world has ever seen." . . . On March 8, 1941, he voted against that bill. Fortunately, a Democratic majority, over Taft's vehement objections, voted the necessary funds for lend-lease and thereby helped Great Britain to hold the Nazi hordes at bay.

Hitler must have laughed at these rantings of the senator from Ohio. For while Taft was playing the isolationist tune and minimizing the dangers of a victorious Nazi Germany, Hitler was secretly preparing to attack us. This isn't a matter of surmise. It is a fact shown by captured Nazi secret documents.

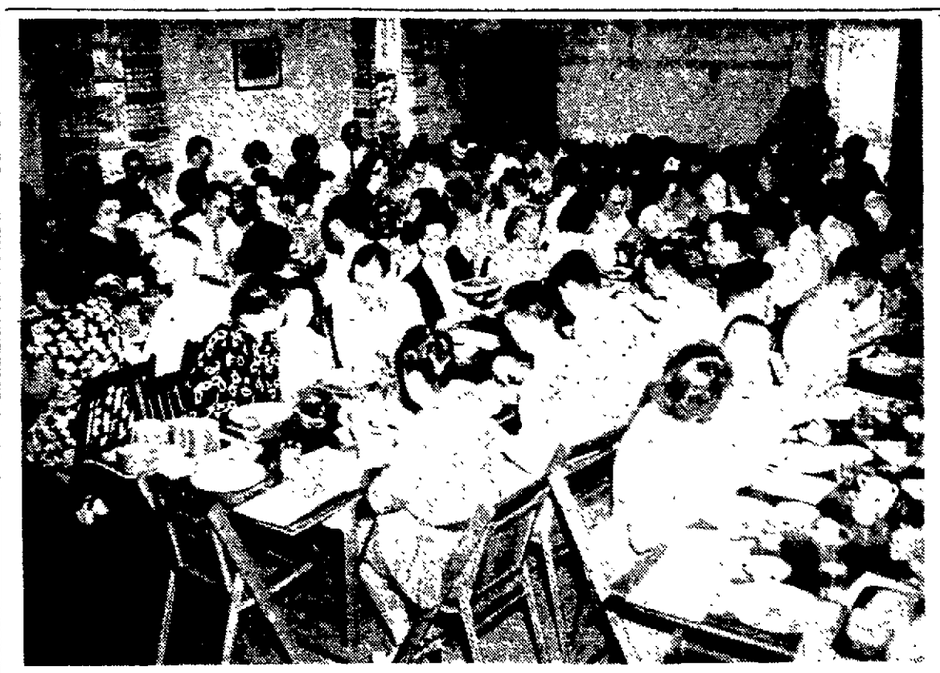
★

This record shows that Senator Taft was consistently wrong on crucial matters involving our national defense at a time when our freedom was imperiled by the Nazis. In the face of new dangers from Communist Russia, this is hardly a record which justifies making a man Commander-in-Chief.

City Merchants Go to Shenandoah

MANSFIELD NEWS-JOURNAL

THURSDAY, JUNE 24, 1948 PAGE FIFTEEN



GOODWILL DINNER—Chicken, country style, was the order of the day last evening in the Shenandoah Grange hall as the Mansfield Retail Merchants association members and guests dined at their 23rd annual goodwill dinner. The dinner was the highlight of the evening, which also included a musical entertainment, followed by distribution of prizes.

Head of Ohio Newspaper Chain Dies

Stricken While With Mansfield Friend

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— Louis Brush, 76, of Salem, O., chairman of the board of the Brush-Moore Newspapers, died at 9 a. m. today at Hahnemann hospital. He suffered a cerebral attack yesterday.

He was taken ill suddenly Tuesday night in the apartment of a friend, Henry A. Hurst, which he was occupying with another friend, C. F. (Ted) Routzahn of Mansfield.

The Salem, Ohio, newspaper executive was in Philadelphia to attend the Republican national convention. He had attended every national GOP conclave since the turn of the century.

With Brush at the time of his death were his wife and his grandson, Thomas Stewart Brush, of Marion, son of Katherine Brush, the writer. They arrived shortly before he died.

Brush's son, T. S., and father of the Marion newspaperman, died about 10 years ago.

Brush came to Philadelphia with his partner, Roy Moore, president of the newspaper chain, and William A. Vodrey, secretary-treasurer. Vodrey is a Republican delegate from Ohio.

Brush and Moore started the newspaper chain, now consisting of seven papers in Ohio and one in Maryland, back in 1923 with the purchase of the Marion Star from President Warren G. Harding, his personal friend.

Form Guard Policy Today

Staff members of the 164th Air National Guard Fighter Squadron will meet in the municipal court room Friday at 8 p. m. to form the policy for the fighter squadron, it was announced today.

The staff, including the commanding officers of the squadron and attached units, will plan arrangements for accepting enlistments into the Air National Guard on Saturday, officials said.

Draft-eligible men of the area who have been making inquiries about enlistment in the unit will receive application forms and physical examinations and will be sworn in Saturday at 2 p. m.

The men will report to Hangar No. 7 at the municipal airport for enlistment on Saturday. Enlistments after that will be accepted in the squadron recruiting office, Room 5, second floor in the Mansfield post office.

Mrs. Yetzer Dies At Home In City

Mrs. Elizabeth Yetzer, wife of Joseph C. Yetzer, died this morning at her home at 231 South Mulberry street after a lingering illness.

Mrs. Yetzer was born in Mansfield and spent her entire life in this city.

Surviving, besides her husband, are one brother, Henry Denig, of 344 Altamont avenue, and two sisters, Mrs. Harry Butterworth, of 146 Sturges avenue, and Mrs. Thurman Zerby, of 599 South Main street.

Funeral services will be held at St. Peter's Catholic church at 11:30 a. m. Saturday, in charge of Msbr. R. C. Goebel. Burial will be in the Mansfield Catholic cemetery. The body will remain at Wappner funeral home until time of services.

Same Ad Provides Jobs For 65 Pupils

The Mansfield office of the Ohio State Employment Service is convinced that advertising pays.

The Ashland employment made a hurry call to the Mansfield office for 35 school boys and girls to pick strawberries on a farm near Ashland. The Mansfield office ran a News-Journal want ad., asking applicants to report at the employment here at 8 a. m. the next day.

When C. W. Handley, OSES office manager, came to work shortly before 8, he found 65 boys and girls waiting outside. The berry grower hired all 65. Handley said his office has provided more than 100 berry pickers for the same grower.

Berry picking is only one of the jobs students are doing this summer. A few boys have gone to work on farms all summer. Their parents asked the employment office to find the boys healthful, outside work, and the farm jobs were the result.

Mansfield residents, on the other hand, ask for students who live on farms to care for their yards and gardens. They feel that these students will know more about gardens and shrubbery than their city brothers, Handley said.

GIRLS GET OFFICE JOBS

Most girls who are working for the summer are clerking in retail stores or doing office work. In the offices, they fill in for regular employes who are on vacation.

Boys are working in factories, filling stations, and in retail stores as clerks and stock boys.

Handley said that it is getting a little more difficult to place students for the summer only. However, in many cases the employment service has developed jobs for them by calling prospective employers.

The demand for summer workers probably is as great as ever, Handley said, but the number of short-term workers has increased. Veteran students home from colleges for the summer have greatly swelled the ranks of short-term job seekers. In addition, more high school students seek work every year. Some students want work to supplement the family income. Others want jobs so that they can buy some particular item they desire or have more spending money.

Although the employment service can't find jobs immediately for all the students seeking them, Handley said he likes to have them register and can often help them.

Vet Aid Tops $550,000

The Richland County Soldiers' Relief commission, operated at a cost of less than $30,000 a year, helped to bring more than $550,000 in veterans' benefits to Richland county last year, according to figures compiled by Harry A. Vandervort, county service officer.

The amount represents veterans' relief, pensions, and bonuses.

"This probably is the largest business return for any organization at such a small operational expense, and we have every reason to expect an even larger return this year," Vandervort said.

"We have recorded 1,300 more veterans' cases already this year than in all of 1947 when we handled 799 cases," Vandervort said.

W. E. Glick Dies at 53

William Earl Glick, 53, a resident of Mansfield for many years, died at General hospital Wednesday at 3:15 p. m. Death followed a heart attack, suffered at his home, 4 Dewey avenue, last Saturday night.

Born in St. Paris on Sept. 5, 1894, Mr. Glick was the son of the late Enon U. and Anna Gross Glick. At the time of his death, he was engaged in the landscaping business. He was a former employe of the Mansfield Printing company. He was a member of the Eagles lodge.

He is survived by his wife, Mary Jane Walker Glick; four sons, Malcolm of Avondale, Ariz., Daniel of Canton and Frank and Floyd of Mansfield; two sisters, Mrs. Pearl Spriggs of Urbana and Mrs. Mary Zirkel of Dayton; three brothers, Harry of Urbana, and Harley and Frank of St. Paris; four step-sons and four step-daughters and four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 1 p. m. at the Evergreen cemetery chapel at St. Paris, O., in charge of Rev. Carl E. Brown, pastor of the First Methodist church at St. Paris. Burial will be in the cemetery there. Friends may call at the Jones Memorial until Saturday morning.

Court Sends Boy to OSR

Youth Sentenced In Theft of Auto

A 16-year-old Trailer city youth was sentenced for an indeterminate term yesterday afternoon to the State reformatory by Juvenile Judge Stuart H. Cramer.

The youth, Lee Thomas Vanhoose, was sentenced after he pleaded guilty to operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent last Saturday.

The youth was stopped by Patrolman John Kark because he was driving in a "suspicious" manner on U. S. Route 42, east of Mansfield. He also was charged with operating an automobile without a driver's license.

The car is the property of Jack Middlebrook, 564 Lily street, who told patrolmen it was stolen from a Wayne street parking place Friday night.

Juvenile court attaches said the youth was on parole from the Greensdale, Ky. reform school.

The youth was sentenced to OSR since he was over 16 and committed an act, which, if committed by an adult, would be a felony.

Louis Harold Leiter, 14, of 603 West Main street, lost the use of his restricted driver's license. Judge Cramer revoked the license after finding the youth guilty of unsafe operation of an automobile on U. S. Route 42 Sunday.

The arrest was made by the state highway patrolmen.

A 15-year-old Ashland county youth, charged with breaking and entering the Pleasant Valley school at Five Points Tuesday, was committed to the Bureau for Juvenile Research in Columbus for observation.

The complaint was signed by R. M. Smith, chairman of the Union Local board of education.

YMCA Sponsors Family Dinner

The YMCA will hold the first of a series of family basket picnics Thursday at 6 p. m. in North Lake park. The "Y" will furnish coffee for the affair.

Featured among the games and contests planned for after dinner will be a potato race, father and son three-legged race, horseshoes, volleyball, and croquet.

John Fike, physical director of the "Y", and Ralph B. Chapman, associate general secretary, will be in charge. They will be assisted by John Watkins and Jim Kibler, of the "Y", and Ken Miller, recreation supervisor of the park. Equipment will be provided by the city recreation department.

Up and Down the Street . . .

DODGERS—

City building officials and visitors are having some difficulty getting around the building these days, being forced to walk on drop cloths and duck under scaffolds as workers paint the walls. The third floor has been completed and now is resplendent in light green. The workmen now are painting the second floor. Business goes on about as usual.

Indefatigable Sight-seers Add to Convention Frenzy

By LOUIS BROMFIELD

PHILADELPHIA —(INS)— With the approach of the balloting the city of Philadelphia and the hotels and convention hall in particular have all become uncoordinated parts of a nightmare.

I have attended a good many conventions but never have I seen anything like this one. It reached a peak today when I found myself being joined in my bath on the fourteenth floor by two strange bobby-soxers and a middle-aged woman.

When I asked what they wanted they replied, "Oh, nothing. We're just snooping around!"

In the hotels you wait for thirty minutes before you move up to within range of the elevator. Then with luck you may force your way off at your own floor without being carried up to the roof.

The hotels, heaven knows, are full but most of the traffic in the elevators isn't made up of hotel guests but of indefatigable sightseers.

Not only is the town full of outsiders but the whole of Philadelphia seems to have moved downtown to enjoy the fun. It stays there all night and all day.

Yesterday in the midst of the mob of aimless wanderers milling around in the Bellevue-Stratford lobby I encountered two of America's richest women from the Philadelphia main line. They were just gawping and apparently enjoying themselves. Apparently the carnival spirit had overtaken them, too.

As a matter of fact "carnival" is the best word to describe the occasion. Nobody except the candidates is worried about anything and Mr. Dewey keeps assuring us that he isn't worried either.

Everybody seems to have plenty of money and to be throwing it about like confetti with the result that prices keep creeping upward.

Cocktails in the hot spots which cost fifty cents on Monday have somehow crept up to seventy-five on Tuesday and a dollar by Wednesday. There are people living in palaces, in flats, in hovels, in cleared out linen closets vacated by the owners at high prices, for four or five days.

One of the pleasantest developments is the "open house" custom which is widespread. I have already located five places where at any hour of the day or night I can stop in and get all I want to eat and drink for free.

This is a great help because once I have left my room in the morning I can't get back to it until three or four in the morning, when a few of the milling carnival makers have at last given in and laid down somewhere for a few moments rest.

Rankin Confers With President

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Rep. Rankin (D.-Miss.), a leader in the southern revolt against President Truman's civil rights program, yesterday indicated Dixie Democrats may agree to repeating the party's 1944 plank on that issue.

In a statement issued after a conference with the President, Rankin declared he was "not without hope that the Democratic convention will reach a satisfactory agreement on the civil rights issue."

The association lists four reasons for the dip; easing of housing, high cost of living which leaves couples with less money to finance divorce, more women quitting jobs to stay home and keep house, and a more serious approach to marriage.

Mansfielders Return to License Bureau

Visit Marriage Scene on Anniversary

The Dr. J. F. Moreys of Mansfield have proved that sentiment still plays an important role in marriage—even after 25 years

Last Sunday the Mansfield physician and his wife celebrated their silver anniversary following a trip back to Johnson county, Indiana, where they got their marriage license 25 years ago

They went through the same routine in the Johnson county courthouse, somewhat to the bewilderment of the deputy clerk who tried to give them another license.

Mrs Morey, who requested the trip for her anniversary gift quickly explained that they had had their license—for a long time in fact—and that she and her husband had come back in observance of their anniversary and for sentumental reasons.

Ironically, a divorce case was in progress in the court room at the time the Moreys arrived.

Mrs Morey said yesterday that she enjoyed the trip "very much" Dr. and Mrs Morey, who reside at 46 West Second street, have two grown children, Frederick Morey of New York, and Mrs. T G (Betty) Schiller of Chicago.

SERVICE CHIEFS—Now part of regular armed forces, directors of the women's services give you their best smiles as they line up after a conference with Defense Secretary Forrestal at the Pentagon: Col. Mary A. Hallaren, WAC (Women's Army Corps); Col. Geraldine P. May, WAF (women in the Air Force); Capt. Joy B. Hancock, Waves; Maj. Julia E. Hamblet, Marine Corps Women.

Agency Now Matchmaker

DES MOINES —(AP)— When 65-year-old Charlie Rath was married at Glidden, Ia., the state board of social welfare assumed its extra curricula duty had been done. Now it is wondering if romance is to become a permanent part of its business.

Rath, a farmer-widower, wrote asking help in finding a wife who didn't "smoke, drink or run to the taverns"

The board made the old age pensioner's letter public, Rath said nearly 50 women wrote to him, and he married one.

As the board settled back to routine it received a similar request from another man, who said he was more than 50 years old, but "plenty strong for my age."

Letters from a couple of late Rath applicants were forwarded.

The original Siamese twins came from Bangkok to Boston in 1829 and 11 years later settled down as farmers in North Carolina.

College Junior Selected As Library Apprentice

Miss Helen McClure, 87 Vennum avenue, has been selected by the Memorial Library board to take the summer apprenticeship at the Mansfield Public library, Miss Lois MacKeller, chief librarian, announced today

The apprenticeship is a five-week training course in which the apprentice is introduced to the various departments of the library under the supervision of a graduate librarian.

This is the second year for the program, the purpose of which is to acquaint eligible young women with the profession of librarianship. Miss Muriel Morton of 179 Lind avenue served as an apprentice last year.

Miss McClure has just completed her junior year at Muskingum college where she is majoring in elementary education. She was graduated from Mansfield Senior high school in 1945.

In charge of the training are Miss Anna Jean Evans, reference librarian; Miss Edith Jones, sataloger, Miss Eva Leonard, children's librarian, and Mrs. Vaughn Pennell, county librarian Miss MacKeller will supervise the entire program.

Ohio Drink Order Tops $1,000,000

COLUMBUS —(UP)— Orders for 32,400 cases of whiskies, gins and cordials amounting to $1,087,709 were placed by the Ohio department of liquor control during the week ending June 18, Liquor Director Dale Dunifon announced

The largest order was for 19,500 cases of spirit blend whiskies costing $563,565

Ohio's WCTU Opens Drive

COLUMBUS —(UP)— Ohio's dry forces, led by the Ohio WCTU and the Temperance league, has opened an all-out campaign to gain support for a proposed county option law

A county option law would permit a vote on the liquor question on a county-wide basis rather than restricting a referendum to a township basis as under the present law

Miss Mary B. Ervin, Columbus, president of the state WCTU, said more than 2,000 certified county option law petitions have been sent out to canvassers.

U. S. Plans Military Aid Discussions

Will Confer With Benelux Nations

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Undersecretary of State Lovett has announced that the United States will approach Britain, France and the Benelux countries on American military aid to the Western European alliance.

Lovett made it clear at a news conference Wednesday that the state department would act under the Senate-approved Vandenberg resolution which paves the way for U. S. participation in the European union.

The resolution, drafted by Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich) was approved as a Senate policy statement and is not a law.

Other points made by Lovett at a news conference were.

1. Negotiations for Bilateral agreements with Britain, France, Denmark and Sweden are progressing satisfactorily

2. There is no intent on on the part of the United States to gain control of the pound sterling or any other European currency in the drafting of these bilateral agreements.

3 The reported meeting of Russia and her satellite states in Warsaw was reasonably to be expected as a result of passage of ERP and the London agreement for the development of Western Germany.

4. The state department has instructed the U. S. embassy in London to express concern to the British government over reports that quotas have been imposed on the showing of American motion pictures in the United Kingdom.

ELECTRICIAN KILLED

VAN WERT — (AP) — Edward Mull, 50, a Lima electrician, was killed Wednesday when he touched a 440-vole wire at the Union quarries eight miles northwest of here.

Army Unloads Food Cargoes

LONDON —(AP)— The Labor government sent troops to London wharves Wednesday to unload food cargoes tied up for 10 days by a wildcat strike of dock workers.

An official statement from Prime Minister Attlee's office said: "As work has not been resumed in the London docks and perishable food needed by the people is in danger of deterioration and waste, the government has decided that it has no alternative in the public interest but to utilize service personnel to safeguard the peoples' food supplies, particularly those of a perishable nature."

Thieves Get $6.30 From Custard Stand

Theft of $6.50 from the Tasty Town frozen custard stand at East Fourth and Ashland road was reported yesterday by police.

Police said they discovered the burglary at 2:32 a. m. when they found the west window of the stand broken out. Alex Bosko, McElroy road, proprietor, said only small change was taken.

GIVE UP SEVEN CHILDREN—Having given up their seven children—ranging in age from nine months to eight years—for adoption because they could not rear them on their meager income, Mr. and Mrs. William Harvey sadly gaze in Miami, Fla., at an album of their children's pictures. Mrs. Harvey suffers from a virtually incurable ailment.

Gives Away 7 Children

MIAMI, Fla.—(UP)—A 36-year-old radio announcer gave away his seven children to seven different Florida families through a want ad. He said he couldn't make enough money to support them.

William W. Harvey offered his family for adoption in a classified advertisement in a Miami newspaper June 15. It took only six days to find takers among the 21 answers, he said.

Harvey earns $75 a week as an announcer for a Miami radio station. He said that wasn't enough to take care of his children, ranging in age from eight years to nine months, and his sick wife.

Only Downpour Will Stop Fight Tonight

Many Think Delay Favors Jersey Joe

By JACK CUDDY
(UP Sports Writer)

NEW YORK — (UP) — A forecast of showers today threatened another postponement of the heavyweight title fight between Joe Louis and Jersey Joe Walcott at Yankee stadium tonight.

Moreover, the weather bureau predicted showers for Friday.

Sol Strauss of the 20th Century club declared the bout would be staged tonight "if at all possible." If deferment became necessary it would not be announced "until the last minute." Yesterday's postponement was decided shortly after 2 p. m. (EDT).

HELPED GATE

Strauss said the 24-hour delay may have helped the gate, which he hopes will exceed $900,000. He admitted, however, that additional delays would diminish the receipts considerably. Thus far, few refunds on tickets have been requested, he said.

Both fighters were reported in good spirits. Louis was at his camp in Pompton Lakes, N. J.; Walcott, at a hotel near Madison Square Garden, where yesterday's weigh-in was staged. The champion, motored back to his camp yesterday afternoon.

MAY FAVOR JERSEY

Most boxing men believed the postponement would benefit Walcott for four reasons:

(1) Louis has unpleasant memories of two fights that were delayed by weather. Max Schmeling knocked him out, and Tommy Farr gave him uncomfortably close competition.

(2) The champ, whose 213¼ pounds yesterday was the heaviest of his career, may become "loggy" as he adds more weight in comparative idleness. But Walcott, who may have trained too "fine," could benefit by the rest. Jersey Joe registered 194¾ yesterday. That was only a quarter-pound more than for their memorable brawl on Dec. 5, when he nearly won the title from Louis.

(3) Dr. Vincent Nardiello of the New York boxing commission staff recalled that Louis had been unable to relax or sleep properly when his disastrous fight with Schmeling in 1936 was postponed one day. Also that the champ appeared to have reacted unfavorably to the four-day delay preceding his title bout with Farr of Wales in 1937.

(4) The late Jack Blackburn, who trained the champ during most of his career, taught him to make a "target" of fight-day—to condition himself gradually so he could be at his peak physically and mentally on target day. Hence, a break in his time schedule might cause him to lose his "edge."

Increased support for Walcott caused the price favoring Louis to drop to 2-1 in some sections of New York. In others the price remained 11-5.

Gorman-Rupp Rips Canton Team, 10 to 1

Just how tough the Mansfield Gorman-Rupp team really may be was demonstrated last night as the Mansfielders romped to a 10-1 victory over the supposedly-tough Canton Stark Bricks.

The Canton team was city and district champions last year and had been beaten only twice in 29 previous starts this season.

Lanky "Stretch" Regula didn't read their press clippings, however, and set them down with one hit, a single off Pete Campbell's glove in the seventh inning. He presented them with their only run later in the frame when he issued a base on balls with the bags jammed.

LITTLE RESPECT

The Gorman-Rupp batters likewise had little respect for the invaders. They slapped out 14 hits and scored their runs in clusters.

Manager Nick Weber, apparently out of his slump, slapped out three singles, took a walk, and laid down a perfect sacrifice in five trips.

Gorman-Rupp's victory last night was its 11th in 14 starts. Friday night, Manager Weber's crew will go to Tiffin to meet the cellar-dwelling cellar-dwellers.

GOOD BOY

Paul Snyder coached the Bengals when Horvath was starring on the grid. Says Paul, "A person can't say too much about Mike. He was one of the best boys I ever coached and a fine line-backer. He should be a great help at Sandusky."

The new Blue Streak coach graduated from Wooster college in 1947. He played three years of varsity football and one of basketball at Wooster. His only previous cage experience was at John Simpson.

Horvath is single and 26. He spent three years in the Army.

He will report at Sandusky Aug. 20 to help Jeff DeHaven, former Madison coach with fall football practice.

Horvath replaces Jerry Katherman on the Sandusky staff. Katherman is a St. Louis Card scout and will coach at Shaker Heights next season.

Grays and Legion Score Easy Wins

Two of the city's leading baseball teams racked up easy victories on the road yesterday as the Mansfield Grays trimmed Shelby, 5-1, and the American Legion Juniors took the measure of Willard, 11-3.

The Legion team was taking its final cuts before the opening of the round-robin tournament and kept its undefeated record intact. Dutch Bader kept seven Willard hits well scattered and struck out 12 men. Sparkie Watts and Gene Riblett led the Mansfield attack with three hits apiece.

MEET CRESTLINE

The Mansfield Legion team will meet Crestline Saturday in the first game of a double-header scheduled for Liberty park. Shelby and Galion meet in the nightcap.

★

The Grays, meanwhile, continued with their superb pitching as Jack Hammett tossed a nine-hitter. Good as the pitching job was, it was not as good as the Grays had gotten in their previous two games. Both had been shutouts. Hammett struck out ten men.

GAME ON ICE

The Grays put the game on ice in the seventh inning when they tallied four runs on singles by Dean Hahn, Jack Hammett and Shelly Swank, a triple by Kenny Funk and a Willard error.

The Grays will play at the Ohio State Reformatory Saturday and be host to Akron Goodyear in a double-header Sunday.

Poor Attendance Again Brings Up Browns' Transfer

ST. LOUIS — (UP) — President Richard Muckerman of the St. Louis Browns intimated today that he may be ready to sell the team or transfer the club's franchise to another city.

"I have no further comment," he said when asked to discuss the statement made on Dizzy Dean's play-by-play broadcast of the Browns' 12 to 1 defeat by the Philadelphia Athletics.

Muckerman said in his radio interview that "it's up to the fans whether the Browns remain in St. Louis, but I am not going to be head of any organization in St. Louis if the fans do not want it kept here."

He said that in 27 games played in St. Louis on 25 playing days, the Browns' attendance has totaled 127,395 an average of 4,722 per game. Prior to last night's game — the worst defeat of the year for the Brownies—the team had played .500 baseball at home.

Tappan, Farm Tools Keep Clean Slates

Farm Tools and Tappan Stove kept up their torrid pace in the Industrial Softball league yesterday as both notched easy victories to maintain undefeated records.

Farm Tools, league leaders with six wins, trimmed Ideal Electric, 2-0, behind the four-hit pitching of Jack Walters. The Toolmen collected only four blows off Glenn Zartman but iced the game by scoring both their runs in the first inning.

Tappan, meanwhile, romped easily over Mansfield Tire, winning by a 10-0 count. Dick Kanz tossed a four hitter for Tappan while Jim McCullough paced the 11-hit attack with a single and home run. It was the Tappans fifth straight win.

In other games Mansfield Plumbing trimmed Dominion Electric, 9-5, and Cole's Tool and Die outslugged the Telephone company, 12-9.

Feller After Final Game Of Yank Set

CLEVELAND — (AP) — It was Bobby Feller's turn today to aim for "the big win" over the New York Yankees which would give the first place Cleveland Indians an even split in their series with the challenging world champions.

The Yanks moved one-up in the crucial set last night when Tommy Henrich blasted his way out of a batting slump with a game-wrecking grand slam homer in the eleventh inning for a 5-1 New York victory.

Don Black hurled a brilliant game until the unlucky eleventh, when the Massillon outfielder proved to be the "unwelcome guest" at a second anniversary party for tribe prexy Bill Veeck attended by 65,279 stadium fans.

After John Lindell singled to open the second extra inning, Black threw too late in an attempt for a forceout on George Stirnweiss' bunt. Winning pitcher Ed Lopat bunted the runners to second and third before Phil Rizzuto was purposely passed to fill the sacks and set up a double play.

HENRICH EXPLODES

Henrich then exploded the Cleveland strategy over the right center field fence with his seventh circuit clout of the season.

Lopat, an old Indians jinx who has defeated the Tribe twice in three starts this season, also aided his own cause by driving in George McQuinn with the first Yankee run in the second.

The only bright spot for the Tribe was Ken Keltner's 17th homer over the left field fence in the seventh, which tied the score and sent the veteran third baseman ahead of Joe DiMaggio in the league home run derby.

Another Rookie Star Hits Major Spotlight

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Robin Roberts, 21-year-old righthander, is proving the Philadelphia Phillies made a smart move when they gave him $25,000 to sign with their organization.

The lanky speed ball pitcher gained his first major league victory last night, stopping the Cincinnati Reds, 3-2, at Philadelphia. Roberts held the Reds to seven hits—two of them homers by Hank Sauer and Danny Litwhiler. He fanned nine and walked only three.

The game was the only one played in the National league. A scheduled doubleheader between Chicago and New York and single games betwe Pittsburgh and Brooklyn and St. Louis and Boston were postponed because of rain.

In the American league, the second-place New York Yankees beat the league-leading Indians, 5-1, in 11 innings in a night game at Cleveland. The setback cut the Indians' lead to two-and-one-half games.

Tommy Henrich broke up the game with a grand-slam homer off Don Black, who went the route for the Tribe. Ken Keltner hit his 17th homer in the seventh inning to account for the lone Cleveland run.

The third-place Philadelphia Athletics, behind the six-hit pitching of Dick Fowler, swamped the Browns, 12-1, in another night tilt at St. Louis. Herman Franks led the A's 14-hit attack, driving in five runs on a homer, triple and double.

At Detroit, in a day game, the Washington Senators nosed out the Tigers, 2-1. All runs in the game were unearned. Dizzy Trout held the Senators to four hits while four Washington pitchers allowed six.

A scheduled day came between the Boston Red Sox and the White Sox in Chicago was postponed because of rain.
